Time Horizons And Technology Investments:

Time Horizons and Technology Investments National Academy of Engineering, Committee on Time Horizons and Technology Investments, 1992-02-01 It is frequently argued that U S corporations have shorter time horizons for planning and investment than their Japanese and German competitors This argument though widely accepted in studies of U S competitiveness has rarely been examined in depth Time Horizons and Technology Investments explores the evidence that some U S corporations consistently select projects biased toward short term return and addresses factors influencing the time related preferences of U S corporate managers in selecting projects for investment It makes recommendations to policymakers and managers about policies to mitigate negative external influences and about strategies to remove internal biases toward noncompetitive decisions Time Horizons and Technology Investments National Academy of Engineering (U.S.). Committee on Time Horizons and Technology Investments, 1992 The Bridge, 1990 Take Charge of the Future Arden Brummell, 2023-01-17 Strategic planner and consultant Arden Brummell shares his wealth of experience about the scenarios to strategy planning process weaving in his personal career journey with practical examples and insights The process of creating scenarios and developing strategy provides a powerful vehicle for strategic conversation leading to better informed decision making across business government and non profit organizations Designed for planning directors managers MBA students or anyone guiding organizations facing uncertainty and complexity this book describes how to effectively implement a scenarios to strategy process within an integrated strategic management framework A Competitiveness Strategy for America United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, 1993 This document records the oral testimony and written statements of 13 U S Senators and Representatives government officials a corporate chairman and a union president on the problem of economic stagnation in the United States and the formulation of a strategy to promote greater world competitiveness Some witnesses focused on the need for better education and job training for the 20 percent of people considered illiterate in the United States whereas most witnesses focused on the lack of family supporting jobs The witnesses said that millions of middle wage jobs have disappeared leaving only a few highly skilled highly paid jobs and many part time low wage jobs without benefits Witnesses proposed creating strategies to encourage investment in manufacturing jobs in the United States such as investment credits and elimination of barriers to exporting goods Some witnesses opposed additional taxes to pay for improvements others supported them for humanitarian purposes Some were totally proponents of the free market but others said that the free market had not created jobs for the past 20 years and that some sort of government stimulus was needed A long term investment such as improvements in the infrastructure was more favored than shorter term approaches KC 29th European Symposium on Computer Aided Chemical Engineering Anton A.
