Barry Dainton

Times Universe:

Time and Space, Second Edition Barry Dainton, 2010-01-01 Surveying both historical debates and modern physics Barry Dainton evaluates the central arguments in a clear and unimposing way that keeps conceptual issues comprehensible to students with little scientific or mathematical training and makes the philosophy of space and time accessible to anyone trying to come to grips with the complexities of this challenging subject With over 100 original line illustrations and a full glossary of terms Time and Space keeps the requirements of students firmly in sight and will continue to serve as the ideal textbook for philosophy of time and space courses

Time Travel Nikk Effingham, 2020 Time travel is metaphysically possible Nikk Effingham contends that arguments for the impossibility of time travel are not sound Focusing mainly on the Grandfather Paradox Effingham explores the ramifications of taking this view discusses issues in probability and decision theory and considers the potential dangers of travelling in time

Belief in God T. J. Mawson, 2005 Belief in God answers two questions what if anything is it that Jews Christians and Muslims are agreeing about when they join in claiming that there is a God and what if any prospects are there for rationally defending or attacking this claim In the context of a sustained argument for particular answers to these questions Tim Mawson tackles many of the most prominent topics in the philosophy of religion He argues that those who believe that there is a God are best interpreted as believing that there is a being who is essentially personal transcendent immanent omnipotent omniscient eternal perfectly free perfectly good and necessary and non essentially creator of the world and value revealer of Himself and offerer of everlasting life Having explored the meaning and consistency of this conception of God in the first half of the book Mawson goes on to consider whether or not belief or the absence of belief in such a God might be the sort of thing that does not rationally require argument and if not what the criteria for a good argument for or against such a God's existence might be

António Guterres Secretary General of the United Nations This is an amazing almost mind boggling book The author takes a look at the true whole i e the development of the human enterprise since its very beginning This enterprise is evidently a possibility under the boundary conditions of cosmological dynamics and natural evolution but evidently also a highly improbable one It is all but a miracle that the Earth system in its present form exists and happens to support a technical civilization Will this civilization last long will it transform itself into something even more exceptional or will it perish in disgrace Santos dares to address these grandest of all questions equipped with a unique transdisciplinary wisdom drawing on physics cybernetics geology biology economics anthropology history and philosophy And he dares to dive into the deepest abysses of thinking where categorial monsters like time and progress lurk Thereby he takes us on fascinating journey during which we perceive and grasp things we have never seen and understood before One of the best essays I have ever read John Schellnhuber founding director of the Potsdam Institute for Climate Impact Research PIK and former chair of the German Advisory Council on Global Change
