Tin House 14:

Tin House Win McCormack, 2015 From the website When we started Tin House fourteen years ago we had the crazy notion to be bicoastal Not in Manhattan and LA as everyone then assumed but in Portland and Brooklyn We wanted to tap into the long standing vitality of both cultural centers Alive and vibrant with independent artists writers and musicians they were also at the forefront of thinking about what it means to be a sustainable modern city Nearly fifteen years later to our delight and dismay both places have become cliché cool With this issue we wanted to step back cut through the hype and the ridicule and give our readers a sampling of what attracted us to these places in the first place and what continues to excite us There is no one Portland no one Brooklyn and we don't intend for this to be the definitive record of their writing art and music Our aim is not to memorialize but to stop time briefly to show you the ever evolving dynamism of these cities Tariff Hearings Before the Committee on Ways and Means...1908-09...
