Handbook of Clinical Health Psychology Susan Llewelyn, Paul Kennedy, 2003-08-15 The Handbook of Clinical Health Psychology provides a comprehensive overview of the practice of clinical health psychology. It is primarily a well-referenced but practical resource which provides an authoritative up-to-date guide to empirically validated psychological interventions in health care. Each contributor provides a conceptual synthesis of the area and how key models are related to formulation, service delivery, and research. The book also considers contextual issues and the importance of topics such as ageism and power which may have an impact on how health psychology is delivered by practitioners and experienced by recipients of services. It also seeks to provide a summary of evidence concerning crucial aspects in the delivery of care such as adherence, rehabilitation, and stress. The biopsychosocial model is the major theoretical model underpinning all contributions, but use is also made of other models. Informative and practical a guide to action. An authoritative, critical, and evidence-based synthesis of knowledge that will guide best practice. Easy to use format intended for practitioners who want to ensure their practice is state of the art.

Living with Hearing Difficulties Dafydd Stephens, 2009-10-12 Living with Hearing Difficulties is a source book for professionals who encounter and support individuals with hearing difficulties. It will also be of interest to people with hearing difficulties themselves and those close to them. The book highlights the concept of audiological enablement as being an interactive process requiring the active involvement of both clinician and patient. The thirteen chapters encompass four sections which broadly follow the categories of the World Health Organization's ICF 2001. Section 1 addresses types of hearing disorders, the impairments they cause, and also the process of help-seeking. Section 2 deals with the effects of hearing impairment on communication and psychosocial functioning. Section 3 considers the individual in their environment, their family, work, and leisure. Section 4 elaborates on the process of enablement in a non-prescriptive manner. The authors approach the problems and needs from the standpoint of what the patient/client is seeking. Enablement is seen as a team effort between the professionals, the patient, and their family in an ever-changing environment. This entails using any relevant techniques to ensure the well-being of the individual with hearing impairment; that end remains very much their goal. The book also has a companion website www.wiley.com/go/stephens which hosts additional downloadable documents as well as a demonstration of the concept of the signal to noise ratio JAMA Selected Questions and Answers ,1956
