Venetian Dreaming Paula Weideger, 2004-03 Who hasn't dreamed after a particularly mind numbing meeting or in the midst of another punishing five thirty commute of chucking it all and packing off to the enchanting canals and mysterious alleyways of Venice Globetrotting writer Paula Weideger not only dreamed the dream she and her partner actually took the leap VENETIAN DREAMING charts the course of Weideger's passionate love affair with one of the world's most beautiful cities Weideger opens her book with the wry mishap strewn account of the search to find a place to live which eventually takes her to the world famous Palazzo Dona delle Rose the only palace in Venice continuously occupied by the family that built it She weaves the past lives of the family Dona with her own present adventures creating a tapestry that captures at once the grand heritage and imperilled labyrinth as she gives a lively riveting and eye opening tour of the city She explores the centuries old streets meets locals from noblemen to shopkeepers and artists makes peace with the ghost of Peggy Guggenheim and explains how Ishmael Merchant and James Ivory almost dislodged her from her home and more

Venetian Dreaming Paula Weideger, 2003-09-17 Who hasn't longed to escape to the enchanting canals and mysterious alleyways of Venice Globetrotting writer Paula Weideger not only dreamed the dream she took the leap In Venetian Dreaming she charts the course of her love affair with one of the world's most treasured cities Weideger's search for a place to live eventually takes her to the Palazzo Don dalle Rose one of the rare Venetian palaces continuously inhabited by the family that built it She weaves the past lives of the family Don with her own adventures as she threads her way through the labyrinthine city Art and architecture are a constant presence Yet even more strongly felt is the passage of time the panorama of the seasons as reflected in special events Carnival the Film Festival September's historic regatta midnight mass at San Marco We follow Weideger as she explores the Ghetto the expatriate community and the lives of locals from noblemen to boatmen Along the way she encounters everyone from the ghost of Peggy Guggenheim to the Merchant Ivory crowd and experiences some high drama with the Contessa her landlady The resulting memoir is a wry and illuminating intelligent and tender account of the once grand heritage and now imperiled future of Venice Renaissance Dream Cultures Alessandro Arcangeli, 2024-07-31 This volume explores the dream cultures of the European long sixteenth century with a focus on Italian sources reflections and debates on the nature and value of dreams and frameworks of interpretation The chapters examine a variety of oneiric experiences since distinctions such as that between dreams and visions are themselves culturally specific and variable Several developments of the period are relevant and consequently considered from the introduction of the printing press and the humanist rediscovery of ancient texts to the religious reforms and the cultural encounters at the time of the first globalisation At the centre of the narrative is the exceptional case of Girolamo Cardano heterodox physician mathematician astrologer autobiographer dreamer and key dream theorist of the epoch The Italian peninsula produced the first printed editions of many classical and medieval treatises and particularly between the 1560s and the 1610s was also especially active in the writing of texts both Latin and vernacular fascinated by the oneiric experience and investigating it Given the role of the visual in dreaming images are also analysed This book will be a recommended reading for scholars students and non specialist readers of cultural history Renaissance studies and dream cultures Under a Venice Moon Margaret Cameron,2022-02-23 Life isn't a sort of practice run something you can afford to play around with They don't offer second and third chances to get it right Use it better Live it fuller A week in Venice ignites Margaret Cameron's interest in the private city behind the tourist facade and the obscure tales from its history Tantalised by stories of this lesser known Venice she returns the following August for a month long stay determined to uncover the Venice of the Venetians Stepping out from her comfort zone Margaret finds that friendships unexpected and spontaneous blossom within palazzi walls and she makes a discovery life can lead you along rewarding paths if you let it As each day passes her time in Venice becomes more than just an interlude soon the city feels like home Could she leave her satisfying life in Perth and start anew in Venice The question becomes urgent when romance waits where she least expected to find it No Vulgar Hotel Judith Martin,2011-02-07 Add No Vulgar Hotel to the list of books you must read before you come to Venice Donna Leon This is the definitive book for managing an incurable passion for a decaying waterlogged village Whether you already have a raging case of Venetophilia or are among the fifteen million people who yearly put themselves in danger of contracting it here is where you get your fix of Venetian wit history practicality and enchantment Contemporary Authors New Revision Series Tracey Watson,2005-06 In response to the escalating need for up to date information on writers Contemporary Authors R New Revision Series brings researchers the most recent data on the worlds most popular authors These exciting and unique author profiles are essential to your holdings because sketches are entirely revised and up to date and completely replace the original Contemporary Authors R entries For your convenience a soft cover cumulative index is sent biannually Storied Cities Michael Ross,1994 The cities of Florence Venice and Rome have each acquired a distinctive tradition of literary representation involving characteristic recurrent motifs and symbolic signatures Writing on each is examined here through the fiction and poetry of 19th and 20th century British and American authors Dreaming of Italy Giovanna Franci,Federico Zignani,2005 In Dreaming of Italy Giovanna Franci compares three Las Vegas Italian themed resorts Caesars Palace Bellagio and The Venetian to their Italian counterparts the ancient Forum of the Caesars the breathtaking Lake Como resort town of Bellagio and eternal Venice jewel of the Adriatic Franci not only examines architectural format and decorative details but considers how the mystique of these Italian sites has been transplanted to the Nevada desert In the process she addresses the compelling phenomena of modern mass tourism and postmodern travelers to whom the distinction between the real and the fake is often far less important than the appeal of a destination that allows a visitor to make a virtual Grand Tour within the confines of a single city Franci's perceptive commentary offers unique insights into the trends and intentions behind recent development in Las Vegas She shows how the builders of these three casinos use architectural language to unite the themes and functions of American consumer culture with the romantic mythology of some of the world's most fantastic oases of pleasure. In this context Las Vegas emerges as far more than a popular tourist icon. It is rather the first urban spectacle of the postmodern world, a chameleon-like city continuously reinventing itself to offer visitors an unflagging array of experiences, sensations, and hedonistic delights. Federico Zignani's dazzling photographs bring to life the physical details and idyllic ambiance of the lavish Las Vegas resorts and their Italian inspirations. Reading in Indianapolis, 2003-05
