The Ghetto of Prague Vladimír Sadek, Jiřina Šedinová, 1992 Indhold farve fotografier fra den gamle Ghetto i Prag The Prague Ghetto Milada Vilímková, 1993 Tearing Down Prague's Jewish Town Cathleen M. Giustino, 2003 Based upon a rich array of rare documents this book examines the local social and ethnic interest group struggles that fueled the large scale destruction and reconstruction of the city's former Jewish ghetto in 1887 Images of the Prague Ghetto, 2006 Visit to the Prague Ghetto Jacob Knoller, 1941 Prague Ghetto in the Renaissance Period Státní židovské muzeum (Czech Republic), 1965 Atrocities, Massacres, and War Crimes Alexander Mikaberidze, 2013-06-25 Both concise and wide ranging this encyclopedia covers massacres atrocities war crimes and genocides including acts of inhumanity on all continents and serves as a reminder that lest we forget history will repeat itself The 400 plus entries in Atrocities Massacres and War Crimes An Encyclopedia provide accessible and concise information on the difficult subject of abject human violence committed on all continents The entries in this two volume work describe atrocities massacres and war crimes committed in the 20th century thereby documenting how human beings have repeatedly proven their capability to commit horrific acts of inhumanity even in relatively recent times and within the modern era The encyclopedia covers countries treaties and terms profiles individuals who had been formally indicted for war crimes as well as those who have committed mass atrocities and gone unpunished and addresses human rights violations crimes against humanity and crimes against peace Tales of the Prague Ghetto Siegfried Kapper, 2022-07-01 Trained in philosophy and medicine the writer translator scholar and political and cultural activist Siegfried Kapper 1821 1879 devoted significant effort to the advancement of Jewish culture in Bohemia Jewish emancipation and to the commitment of Jews to contemporary Czech society The three stories in this collection which first appeared in the press in the 1840s and were posthumously published as a collection at the end of the century offer a Romantic and folkloric vision of Jewish culture in Prague The first story Genenda displays Kapper's operatic eye for detail and drama with its account of a dutiful rabbi's daughter being swept away by a dashing young man a Christian nobleman disguised as a Jew a deceit that ends in tragedy The Curious Guest is an intricate tale of a quest for wisdom and power that inevitably leads to the undoing of the arrogant protagonist The final story Glowing Coals is a supernatural tale of romantic desire and revenge displaying Kapper's skill at deploying the tropes of folklore for dramatic literary effect The collection not only provides a colorful snapshot of nineteenth century Czech Jewish culture but also resonates with universal human themes that transcend a single national experience The Prague Ghetto Jindřich Lion, 1959 Old European Jewries David Philipson, 1894 The Prague Ghetto Jindřich Lion, 1970 The Universal Jewish Encyclopedia ... Isaac Landman, Simon Cohen, 1942 Framing Jewish Culture Simon J. Bronner, 2014-01-01 Modernity offers people choices about who they want to be and how they want to appear to others The way in which Jews choose to frame their identity establishes the dynamic of their social relations with other Jews and non Jews a dynamic complicated by how non Jews position the boundaries around what and who they define as Jewish This book uncovers these processes historically as well as in contemporary behavior and finds explanations for the various manifestations in feeling and action of being Jewish Boundaries and borders raise fundamental questions about the difference between Jews and non Jews At root the question is how Jewish is understood in social situations where people recognize or construct boundaries between their own identity and those of others The question is important because this is by definition the point at which the lines of demarcation between Jews and non Jews and between different groupings of Jews are negotiated Collectively the contributors to the book expand our understanding of the social dynamics of framing Jewish identity The book opens with an introduction that locates the issues raised by the contributors in terms of the scholarly traditions from which they have evolved Part I presents four essays dealing with the construction and maintenance of boundaries two by scholars showing how boundaries come to be etched on an ethnic landscape and two by activists who question and adjust distinctions among neighbors Part II focuses on expressive means of conveying identity and memory while in Part III the discussion turns to museum exhibitions and festive performances as locations for the negotiation of identity in the public sphere A lively discussion forum concludes the book with a consideration of the paradoxes of Jewish heritage revival in Poland and the perception of that revival by Jews and non Jews

The Ghetto Louis Wirth,1928 The Maccabean ,1902 Jewish Stories of Prague V. V.
