Under Man's Spell J. K. Muta,2009-07 Inspired by true events this story interweaves the lives of several families living traditional lives in the heart of Africa and shows the disturbing impact of dogmatic tradition and superstition on individuals and communities Children are forced to marry men older than their fathers two three or even more wives is considered normal and have to vie for their husband s attention women are burnt to death because of a rumor that they might be witches albinos are targeted and killed their body parts taken for black magic Since the government has not been able to stop these crimes it is left in the hands of the affected individuals particularly the women to take matters into their own hands But with little cooperation among themselves can anyone truly make a difference Don't Provoke the Wild Wife Mei entirely determined by the two central male characters who form a polarized axis which slowly tears her apart Bella's low self esteem and her strong attachment to the over idealized Edward Cullen are read as symptoms of her placelessness in a world that does not grant her space to develop as an autonomous subject Bella's wish to become a vampire can be equalled with a woman's desire to gain access to a higher social realm via her husband and thereby escape her marginalisation in patriarchal culture In order to live eternally in the idealized capitalist patriarchal and overly religious world that Edward represents Bella has to make a series of sacrifices Leaving her mother behind she moves into a male dominated world which is divided into morally idealized vampires and racially devalued werewolves She is forced to give up her friendship with Jacob Black who represents her autonomous self in order to find her patriarchal pre defined destiny as mother and wife Similar patterns of stereotypical representations of femininity can be found in various characters of the saga A more controversial note is brought in by Bella's half vampire child who can be seen as a destabilizing factor of the saga's rigid dichotomy Taking all this into consideration we have to ask whether it is desirable that millions of young women worldwide admire Bella and set her up as their role model
