Harrison Birtwistle: The Mask of Orpheus Jonathan Cross, 2017-07-05 Hailed at its premiere at the London Coliseum in 1986 as the most important musical and theatrical event of the decade The Mask of Orpheus is undoubtedly a key work in Harrison Birtwistle's output His subsequent stage and concert pieces demand to be evaluated in its light Increasingly it is also viewed as a key work in the development of opera since the Second World War a work that pushed at the boundaries of what was possible in lyrical theatre In its imaginative fusion of music song drama myth mime and electronics it has become a beacon for many younger composers and the object of wide critical attention Jonathan Cross begins his detailed study of this lyric tragedy by placing it in the wider context of the reception of the Orpheus myth In particular the significance of Orpheus for the twentieth century is discussed and this provides the backdrop for an examination of Birtwistle's preoccupation with the story in a variety of works across his creative life The sources and genesis of The Mask of Orpheus are explored This is followed by a close reading of the work's three acts analysing their structure and meaning investigating the relationship between music text and drama drawing on Zinovieff's textual drafts and Birtwistle's compositional sketches The book concludes by suggesting a range of contexts within which The Mask of Orpheus might be understood Its central themes of time memory and identity loss mourning and melancholy touch a deep sensibility in late modern society and culture Interviews with the librettist and composer round off this important study

History and the Contemporary Novel David Cowart, 1989 Cowart presents a study of international historical fiction since World War II with reflections on the affinities between historical and fictional narrative analysis of the basic modes of historical fiction and readings of a number of historical novels including John Barth's The Sot Weed Factor Marguerite Yourcenar's Memoirs of Hadrian Russell Hoban's Riddley Walker Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale Giuseppe Tomasi Di Lampedusa's The Leopard D M Thomas's The White Hotel William Faulkner's Go Down Moses and Umberto Eco's The Name of the Rose He proposes recognizing four modes of the historical novel the past as a distant mirror of the present fictions whose authors seek to pinpoint the precise historical moment when the modern age or some prominent feature of it came into existence fictions whose authors aspire purely or largely to historical verisimilitude and fictions whose authors reverse history to contemplate utopia and dystopia in the future Thus historical fiction can be organized under the rubrics The Distant Mirror The Turning Point The Way It Was and The Way It Will Be This fourfold schema and his focus on postwar novels set Cowart's work apart from previous studies which have not devoted adequate space to the contemporary historical novel Cowart argues that postwar historical fiction merits more extensive treatment because it is the product of an age unique in the annals of history an age in which history itself may end
