Time Storm:

Time Storm Gordon R. Dickson, 1977 Accompanied by a leopard and a nearly autistic young woman Marc Despard sets out to locate his wife who along with the rest of humanity was swept away by a time storm An Automated Real-time Storm Analysis and Storm Tracking Program (WEATRK) Carlton J. Bjerkaas, 1980 The evolution of the WEATRK system is described from the original software obtained under contract in 1977 to the present software configuration The various portions of the software are discussed with emphasis on the algorithms used to determine storm significance and establish the storm track Results of the two year development effort and operational tests show the usefulness of assimilating large amounts of complex data and generating a computer synthesized product easily used in forecast applications The error analysis performed on the storm track forecast accuracy suggests that few of the errors encountered are due to meteorological effects but they are largely due to parameters such as beam width pulse width antenna rotation rate and rounding errors The non meteorological errors appear to average out over large data sets that is the longer the storm track the smaller the forecast error Although the program now uses a three dimensional analysis very little analysis is performed on the velocity and variance fields The usefulness of these fields along with other improvements are considered Storm Data ,2004-05 Climate Changed Mara Freilich, Irmak Turan, Jessica Varner, Lizzie Yarina, 2025-07-15 Models change our worlds From global carbon flux models to regional coastal flood prediction maps climate related models influence how we know our environment how we build our cities and how we act on a climate altered planet Yet such models typically require specialized knowledge to navigate and because the climate crisis is inherently multidimensional technical expertise in isolation is not enough Climate Changed examines models and their imperfect yet central role in understanding the relationship between global climate dynamics and the human built environment It compares and synthesizes the methods and function of models in disciplines ranging from architecture and planning to climate science and natural hazards research This book considers how disparate models are woven together to understand the climate crisis underscoring the necessity of combining locally situated and transdisciplinary knowledge with climate science to navigate current and future cataclysmic changes It highlights the challenges and consequences of disciplinary boundaries siloed scientific knowledge and uneven data and develops ways to overcome these limitations As the world faces the effects of climate change climate scientists are debating the future of their field architects engineers and planners are designing in the context of climate change and society at large is grappling with how to take action This book brings those communities together to chart a path forward
