Using Human Rights Law in English Courts Murray Hunt, 1997 The primary purpose of this book is to demonstrate the scope that already exists for using international human rights law in English courts regardless of its status as incorporated or unincorporated Murray Hunt addresses directly what are commonly supposed to be the theoretical obstacles to using human rights law in English courts and aims to raise awareness of the extent to which these have now fallen away in light of recent developments in English judicial practice The book was first published in hardback in March 1997 Bloomsbury Publishing

Blackstone's Guide to the Human Rights Act 1998 John Wadham, Helen Mountfield, 1999 The Human Rights Act 1998 and the incorporation of the European Convention on Human Rights should have a significant impact in the constitutional balance between the citizen and the state The Act ensures that the rights in the Convention are binding on all public bodies or those that exercise public functions

M. van Erp, 1999 This new volume contains fourteen national reports and a General Report on the use of comparative law by courts which were presented at the XIVth International Congress of Comparative Law in Athens It provides a general survey of the frequency and methods of a comparative recourse to foreign law by courts describing both the methods of such recourse and the typical fields in which it is undertaken The reports offer an interesting cross section of contemporary court practice from a wide variety of countries around the world andndash large and small unitary and federal and with differing historical backgrounds All demonstrate the needs of national courts to look to foreign law for inspiration or as a model for dealing with new unsettled issues of national law and the reports illustrate well the impact of divergent traditions attitudes and surrounding circumstances Of special interest are both the role of comparative law and the comparative method employed in the practice of a supranational court such as the European Court of Justice In addition to the General Report this volume contains national reports from the following countries Canada European Union France Germany Greece Iceland Israel Japan Luxembourg The Netherlands United Kingdom and United States of America University of Michigan Journal of Law Reform University of Michigan. Human Rights and the United Kingdom Supreme Court Brice Dickson,2013-03-28 How does the UK Supreme Court approach human rights law This book presents the first comprehensive overview of the human rights jurisprudence of the Court analysing the opinions expressed by the current Justices and their predecessors both judicially and extra judicially It criticizes the judges for not developing the common law in a way which supplements the Human Rights Act for not making imaginative enough use of that Act and for adopting an attitude to Convention rights which is often out of step with the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg After setting the scene by explaining the constraints which are placed on the Supreme Court Justices the book considers how human rights are conceptualized by the Court in general and how in particular the procedural questions thrown up by the Human Rights Act have been dealt with so far It then examines on a right by right basis the Justices position on all the Convention rights and those additional international human rights standards which have been incorporated into UK law Focusing on the views expressed by individual judges the book details the many differences of opinion which have come to light and characterizes the prevailing positions before attempting to predict what stance may be adopted in future on new issues The book offers an invaluable resource for any practitioners bringing human rights cases before the Court and its critical arguments on the state of UK human rights law will be essential reading for all academics working in European human rights law Netherlands International Law Review, 1997 Bulletin of the University of Utah, 1920
