Working With Anger A Practical Constructivist Approach:

Working with Anger Peter Cummins, 2006-06-14 Client anger is a perennial problem for a range of professionals working in clinical settings Working with Anger presents an alternative strategy to the most common approach cognitive behavioural therapy CBT exploring instead how anger can be tackled from a personal constructivist perspective It provides a conceptual framework and practical advice on the clinical issues of working with anger including case study examples service user perspective a philosophical and developmental underpinning and suggested ways of preventing anger development Ways of working with anger are illustrated including Group based treatments Individual treatment Working with adults Working with children and adolescents Working with families Gender and anger Methods of evaluating anger programmes This practical volume will enable clinicians to set up run and evaluate their own anger programmes using the constructivist approach It will therefore be a valuable resource for professionals such as clinical and forensic psychologists psychiatrists psychotherapists nurses and social workers

The Psychologist, 2005 Reader's Guide to the Social Sciences Jonathan Michie, 2014-02-03 This 2 volume work includes approximately 1 200 entries in A Z order critically reviewing the literature on specific topics from abortion to world systems theory In addition nine major entries cover each of the major disciplines political economy management and business human geography politics sociology law psychology organizational behavior and the history and development of the social sciences in a broader sense

Dialogue with Robots: Constructive Approaches for Understanding Communication Randy Gomez, Casey Kennington, Koji Inoue, Peter Ford Dominey, Takahisa Uchida, 2025-12-10

In recent years robots that have dialogues with humans have become increasingly common in our daily lives For example smart speakers and spoken dialogue systems installed in smartphones and robots that interact with people in stores have been developed Dialogue systems commonly fall under two scenarios of use task oriented and non task oriented Task oriented systems perform interactions necessary to achieve a specific goal e g making a reservation On the other hand non task oriented systems perform interactions in which the focus of the interaction is the dialogue itself While the development of speech recognition technology has enabled these systems to interact with people their ability to engage in meaningful dialogue is still limited This Research Topic focuses on social dialogue with robots which has been actively studied in recent years This Research Topic calls for papers on the research and development necessary to allow robots and people to engage in rich social dialogue First we need basic technologies for robots to understand human interaction In addition to large scale language models which have advanced remarkably in recent years we need technology that enables robots to understand the intent and characteristics of the user Furthermore technology that enables robots to generate dialogue by applying these technologies is needed At the same time it is necessary to consider the basic question of why people engage in dialogue It is also important to promote the construction of robot human and human human social relationships as human robot interaction HRI This Research Topic aims to approach these issues and invites papers on these
