

APA 7th Edition

What is APA?

- APA stands for American Psychological Association
- a way to document sources used within the paper

What does APA affect?

- formatting of the paper
- in-text citations within the paper
- Reference list at the end of the paper

Why should sources be documented?

Sources should be documented to

- give credit to other's work
- give the reader a way of verifying the information within the paper
- add strength (validity) to the information within the paper
- avoid plagiarism

How to use this booklet

This booklet contains information on many different aspects of the APA 7th edition. See the Table of Contents on the next page for the particular sections that you need to use to help you with your paper.

The word plagiarism comes from the Latin word plagiarus, meaning kidnapper.

Plagiarism is when a writer deliberately uses someone else's language, ideas, or other original (not common knowledge) material without its source.

Research in Basic Writing Martin Jacobi, Michael G. Moran, 1990-02-15 This reference handbook surveys research on the central issue associated with the teaching of unprepared writers Though basic writing has only been recognized as a distinct area of teaching and research since 1975 the existing bibliographic texts already seem limited due to their age or lack of annotation This volume provides current and extensive bibliographic essays and will help to define this new field of study for teachers and researchers Following an introduction that summarizes the origins and significant texts in basic writing the book is divided into three sections Social Science Perspectives Linguistic Perspectives and Pedagogical Perspectives The first section which contains three essays views the field through the lens of social psychological and political issues The second section also containing three essays examines contributions made from studies of grammar dialects and second language acquisition The third section in its four essays focuses on the design development administration and evaluation of basic writing courses the use of computers in basic writing classrooms the role of the writing lab and the preparation of basic writing teachers An appendix that reviews current textbooks for basic writing courses is also included as well as an index This book will be a valuable resource for teachers of basic writing in education courses and workshops that train teachers and tutors and in fields such as linguistics technical writing and Teaching English as a Second Language It will also be an important addition to public and university libraries and many education programs
