

Learning Intentions and Success Criteria

When children understand what they are learning and what is expected of them, they learn best.

The terms 'Learning Intentions' and 'Success Criteria' can be intimidating and confusing but understanding them is vitally important when working in an Early Learning and Childcare setting. Learning intentions and success criteria will help your children understand both what they are learning and how to succeed.

They need both learning intentions and success criteria to direct, consolidate and achieve new knowledge. This guide will help you understand how to create learning intentions and success criteria in order to support your children and maintain best practice.

Learning Intentions

Sometimes known as learning objectives, aims, learning outcomes, goals, 'we are learning to...' statements etc.

Learning intentions should describe what you would like children to learn, not what they should be able to do.

Learning intentions help children focus on the aim of the learning experience, keep the activities relevant to the them and support their understanding. They are not about what they are doing but what they are learning.

When writing learning intentions, you should use a language that focuses on what you would like the children to know, understand or be able to do.

When writing your learning intentions, ensure that they are written in language that your child can understand.

Learning intentions are about the what,

Success Criteria

Criteria

Learning Intent

What we want our children to learn

What we want to do

How we want our children to succeed

What we want to see

How

When

Where

Success criteria should be clear to the learning intention and the children. It should be written by the teacher or a group of children, understanding a task.

They are the evidence of learning. The intention is to see if the children learn. They should have criteria written with the learning intention or part of writing them to show the goal of the task.

The learning intention and success criteria should have:

Learning Intention

- Be a clear learning intention
- Be clear and concise
- Able to see if it is measurable and achievable
- Support children to succeed
- Support children to succeed

Success Criteria

- List a list of the evidence of learning or success
- Be clear of the evidence
- Be clear of the evidence
- Be clear

- Use simple and clear language
- Use clear and concise language
- Use clear and concise language
- Use clear and concise language

Writing Learning Intentions and Success Criteria

It is important for the learning intention and success criteria to be clear and for children to understand. The learning intention should describe the content of the learning and the success criteria should describe the evidence of learning. The learning intention should describe the learning intention and the success criteria should describe the evidence of learning. The learning intention should describe the learning intention and the success criteria should describe the evidence of learning.

If you do not use learning intentions and success criteria, you will not know what you want your children to learn and how you want them to succeed.

Key facts

It is important for the learning intention and success criteria to be clear and for children to understand. The learning intention should describe the content of the learning and the success criteria should describe the evidence of learning. The learning intention should describe the learning intention and the success criteria should describe the evidence of learning.
