DISCUSSION

The results of the present study indicate that the mineral specimens are composed of various mineral species, including quartz, feldspar, and mica. The presence of these minerals is consistent with the geological setting of the study area.

The mineral specimens were collected from the study area, and their composition was determined using X-ray fluorescence (XRF) and X-ray diffraction (XRD) techniques. The XRF results show that the specimens are primarily composed of silicon, aluminum, and oxygen, with varying amounts of iron, calcium, and potassium. The XRD results confirm the presence of quartz, feldspar, and mica, and also identify the presence of other mineral species, such as chlorite and illite.
