The Photobook Patrizia Di Bello, Colette Wilson, Shamoan Zamir, 2020-08-07 The photograph found a home in the book before it won for itself a place on the gallery wall Only a few years after the birth of photography the publication of Henry Fox Talbot's The Pencil of Nature heralded a new genre in the history of the book one in which the photograph was the primary vehicle of expression and communication or stood in equal if sometimes conflicted partnership with the written word In this book practicing photographers and writers across several fields of scholarship share a range of fresh approaches to reading the photobook developing new ways of understanding how meaning is shaped by an image's interaction with its text and context and engaging with the visual tactile and interactive experience of the photobook in all its dimensions Through close studies of individual works the photobook from fetishised object d'art to cheaply printed booklet is explored and its unique creative and cultural contributions celebrated

Painting with Fire Matthew C. Hunter, 2020-03-23 Painting with Fire shows how experiments with chemicals known to change visibly over the course of time transformed British pictorial arts of the long eighteenth century and how they can alter our conceptions of photography today As early as the 1670s experimental philosophers at the Royal Society of London had studied the visual effects of dynamic combustibles By the 1770s chemical volatility became central to the ambitious paintings of Sir Joshua Reynolds premier portraitist and first president of Britain's Royal Academy of Arts Valued by some critics for changing in time and thus for prompting intellectual reflection on the nature of time Reynolds's unstable chemistry also prompted new techniques of chemical replication among Matthew Boulton James Watt and other leading industrialists In turn those replicas of chemically decaying academic paintings were rediscovered in the mid nineteenth century and claimed as origin points in the history of photography Tracing the long arc of chemically produced and reproduced art from the 1670s through the 1860s the book reconsiders early photography by situating it in relationship to Reynolds's replicated paintings and the literal engines of British industry By following the chemicals Painting with Fire remaps familiar stories about academic painting and pictorial experiment amid the industrialization of chemical knowledge
