Building for Life Stephen R. Kellert,2012-09-26 Sustainable design has made great strides in recent years unfortunately it still falls short of fully integrating nature into our built environment Through a groundbreaking new paradigm of restorative environmental design award winning author Stephen R Kellert proposes a new architectural model of sustainability In Building For Life Kellert examines the fundamental interconnectedness of people and nature and how the loss of this connection results in a diminished quality of life This thoughtful new work illustrates how architects and designers can use simple methods to address our innate needs for contact with nature Through the use of natural lighting ventilation and materials as well as more unexpected methodologies the use of metaphor perspective enticement and symbol architects can greatly enhance our daily lives These design techniques foster intellectual development relaxation and physical and emotional well being In the works of architects like Frank Lloyd Wright Eero Saarinen Cesar Pelli Norman Foster and Michael Hopkins Kellert sees the success of these strategies and presents models for moving forward Ultimately Kellert views our fractured relationship with nature as a design problem rather than an unavoidable aspect of modern life and he proposes many practical and creative solutions for cultivating a more rewarding experience of nature in our built environment

Sustainable Living Dominique Gauzin-Müller,2006 Since the 1992 Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro the concept of sustainability has come to the fore in the building industry as well as elsewhere It requires the use of intelligent technology innovative structures ecologically sound materials and environment related energy management This development is particularly vigorous in the residential sphere since we now see a growing sensitivity to quality of life and accommodation people increasingly insist on healthy indoor atmosphere natural humidity balance thermal comfort and daylighting This book offers a thorough and technically detailed documentation of 25 sustainable residential structures both in the high tech and low tech domain The individual projects differ greatly in size and in the materials used The examples are chosen from 18 countries on all five continents and are located both in rural and urban areas
