Too Late For Logic:

Too Late For Logic Thomas Murphy, 1990-12-10 A major new play these scenes are beautifully imagined ache with feeling and flower into incidents of piercing sadness or absurd laughter The Times Too Late for Logic is a cunning mix of fact and fiction Christopher has sacrificed much to haul himself up the academic ladder As the play opens he has been asked to deliver a key lecture on Schopenhauer but Cornelia is dead and Michael has disappeared on a drinking bout with his father's pistol in his pocket With his career at make or break point Christopher's family is not helping A marvellously inventive play full of compassion and humour One of his most disturbing affecting and subjective plays Irish Times Too Late for Logic Thomas Murphy, DramaOnline, 2013 Christopher a philosophy professor preparing a lecture on the work of Schopenhauer is engaged by his son and daughter Jack and Petra to help rescue his brother Michael Michael's wife Cornelia has died leaving Michael in a pit of drunken despair threatening suicide in a local pub Christopher who wishes to remain in his ivory tower of philosophical reflections reluctantly joins his grown children on their ultimately successful mission Too Late for Logic premiered at the Abbey Theatre Dublin in October 1989

Underglobalization Joshua Neves, 2020-03-06 Despite China's recent emergence as a major global economic and geopolitical power its association with counterfeit goods and intellectual property piracy has led many in the West to dismiss its urbanization and globalization as suspect or inauthentic In Underglobalization Joshua Neves examines the cultural politics of the fake and how frictions between legality and legitimacy propel dominant models of economic development and political life in contemporary China Focusing on a wide range of media technologies and practices in Beijing Neves shows how piracy and fakes are manifestations of what he calls underglobalization the ways social actors undermine and refuse to implement the specific procedures and protocols required by globalization at different scales By tracking the rise of fake politics and transformations in political society in China and globally Neves demonstrates that they are alternate outcomes of globalizing processes rather than anathema to them

Chatterjee, 2025-01-07 How middle class women transformed India's screen and exhibition industries Since the late 90s multiplexes in India have almost always been located inside malls rendering it impossible to inhabit one space without also inhabiting the other Their prevalence coincides with a shift in the spectatorial imagination of India's mass audience spaces that for several preceding decades had been designed for the subaltern male but are now built for the consuming globalized middle class woman By catering to the mutable desires and anxieties of a rapidly expanding and heterogeneous middle class the mall multiplex has radically altered the politics of theatrical space and moviegoing Projecting Desire tells the story of this moment of historic transition as it played out across media industries architecture and design popular cinema and public culture Tupur Chatterjee highlights how the multiplex established a new link between media and architecture in the subcontinent not only rewriting the relation between gender and urban space but also changing the shapes of Indian cities Projecting Desire locates the post globalization transformation of India's screen and exhibition industries in a longer arc of ideas about urban planning and architecture long mired in caste and class based gendered anxieties It argues that the architectural mediations of India's moviegoing cultures are key to imagining planning and policing the contemporary media city Chatterjee integrates industrial and organizational ethnography in depth interviews participant observation discourse and textual analysis and archival work with spatial and urban histories Focusing on these new meccas of leisure and entertainment Projecting Desire tracks the understudied nexus between new media architectures cultures of public leisure and popular cinema in the Global South Novum organum Francis Bacon, 1901 Science, Engineering Management and Information Technology A.
