Europe World Tourism Organization. Market Intelligence and Promotion Section,2006 As part of a series of annual reports which analyse trends in international tourism this volume focuses on regional and subregional tourism flows and earnings in 2004 in Europe as a whole by region and by individual country including arrivals and receipts major source markets tourism policy and marketing Findings include that Europe remains the greatest tourism region accounting for 55 per cent of total tourist arrivals and 52 per cent of world receipts with intra regional travel continuing to constitute the great majority of arrivals in Europe Transport Revolutions Richard Gilbert,Anthony Perl,2018-10-24 First released in 2007 the bestselling Transport Revolutions argued that land transport in the first half of the 21st century will feature at least two revolutions. One will involve the use of electric drives rather than internal combustion engines. Another will involve powering many of these drives directly from the electric grid as trains and trolley buses are powered today rather than from on-board fuel. Now available for the first time in paperback and updated with the most recent data, it sets out the challenges to our growing dependence on transport fuelled by low-priced oil. These challenges include an early peak in world oil production and profound climate change resulting in part from oil use. It proposes responses to ensure effective, secure movement of people and goods in ways that make the best use of renewable sources of energy while minimizing environmental impacts. Synthesizing engineering, economics, environment, organization, policy, and technology in a detailed yet highly readable style, Transport Revolutions is essential reading for anyone working, studying, or interested in transport and the environment.

Africa World Tourism Organization. Market Intelligence and Promotion Section, World Tourism Organization, 2006. As part of a series of annual reports which analyse trends in international tourism, this volume focuses on regional and subregional tourism flows and earnings in 2004 in the African region as a whole and by individual country, including arrivals, receipts, hotel capacity, and major source markets. In 2004, the region provided 4.4 per cent of the world's international tourist arrivals and 3.0 per cent of world receipts, with an overall growth rate in arrivals of 8.5 per cent and in receipts of 6.6 per cent. This good performance during 2004 was due to a number of factors, including the best economic growth rate in eight years, progress made towards the peaceful resolution of several regional conflicts, an increase in European visitors to the continent, and a growth in new products such as ecotourism and sports tourism. There were significant variations between the performance of different regions in the continent, however, with North and West Africa the most successful areas.
