Marriage and Modernization Don S. Browning, 2003-03-20 The processes of modernization and globalization promise more wealth and health for many people But they are also a threat to the stability and quality of marriage and family life This new book at once sobering and constructive looks at the impact of these processes on marriage and asks what Christianity in cooperation with other religions can do to strengthen married life today Among the deleterious effects of modernization and globalization on marriage are a worldwide drift of men away from the responsibility of parenthood and the tendency of mothers too readily to take on the task of childrearing alone After looking at recent research on these and other problems Don Browning suggests that the cure for modern marital disruption entails reforming and reconstructing the institution of marriage while also nurturing relevant forms of social support Yet the effort to initiate a world marriage revival requires a complex cultural work and Browning explores the key contributions that the religions of the world must make for such an effort to be successful

The Changing Family in Comparative Perspective East-West Center, 1998 This volume compares recent family patterns in Japan South Korea Taiwan and other Asian countries with those found in the United States Written by distinguished social scientists from Asia and the U S the essays in this volume use new surveys and censuses to compare Asian and American patterns of marriage divorce women s roles men s contributions to housework well being in marriage and patterns of contact and exchange between adults and their parents The volume s results suggest that patterns of family formation and dissolution in Asia are converging with those in the United States in many respects but that intergenerational relationships remain distinct

Chinese Marriages in Transition Xiaoling Shu, Jingjing Chen, 2023-09-15 Outdated models of Chinese gender roles marriage and family transitions portray these changes as streamlined and unidirectional from traditional to modern public to private collective to individual Chinese Marriages in Transition documents the complex nuanced and multidirectional nature of these cultural transformations Using complex and large scale historical national data as well as comprehensive data from multiple countries Xiaoling Shu and Jingjing Chen demonstrate that while the second demographic transition is unfolding in many advanced Western societies it is not necessarily a normative form of societal transition Working instead from a framework of new familism Shu and Chen show that Chinese new familism consists of both old and new values including the persistence of some traditional beliefs and practices accompanied by a transition to modern perceptions of gender and adaption to some modern forms of family formation This book is freely available in an open access edition thanks to TOME

Global Issues in Family Law Ann Laquer Estin, Barbara Stark, 2007 This book offers broad coverage of the international comparative and transnational legal questions that are increasingly important in the practice of family law It considers global dimensions of the topics covered in an introductory course including marriage divorce establishing parent child relationships parental rights and responsibilities adoption and domestic violence and addresses broader questions of private international law human rights and immigration and asylum rights The book is intended to be accessible to students with no background in family law or international law and also to be challenging for those interested in exploring the fascinating intersection of these two fields

Routledge Handbook of Families in Asia Stella R. Quah, 2015-03-24 Research on the family has expanded considerably across Asia but studies tend to be fragmented focusing on narrow issues within limited areas cities towns small communities and may not be accessible to international readers These limitations make it difficult for researchers students policy makers and practitioners to obtain the information they need The Routledge Handbook of Families in Asia fills that gap by providing a current and comprehensive analysis of Asian families by a wide range of experts in a single publication The thirty two chapters of this comparative and multi disciplinary volume are organized into nine major themes conceptual approaches methodological issues family life in the context of culture family relationships across the family life cycle issues of work and income stress and conflict family diversity family policy and laws and environmental setting of homes Each chapter examines family life across Asian countries studying cultural similarities and differences and exploring how families are changing and what trends are likely to develop in the future To provide a fruitful learning experience for the reader each chapter offers examples relevant data and a comprehensive list of references Offering a complete interdisciplinary overview of families in Asia the Handbook will be of interest to students academics policy makers and practitioners across the disciplines of Asian Studies Sociology Demography Social Work Law Social Policy Anthropology Geography Public Health and Architecture

Future Survey Annual, 1995 The Methods and Materials of Demography Henry S. Shryock, Jacob S. Siegel, Elizabeth A. Larmon, 1975

Revitalizing the Institution of Marriage for the Twenty-First Century Alan J. Hawkins, Lynn D. Wardle, David Orgon Coolidge, 2002-01-30 As divorce rates in the United States reach alarming levels the institution of marriage receives more and more criticism as an unrealistic endeavor However the contributors to this volume view marriage as a vital social institution not merely one kind of intimate relationship They argue for stronger support through legal and policy reform in order to strengthen for the benefit of individuals communities and the nation The contributors address hot button issues such as same sex marriage effects of divorce on children and the role of fathers in addition to issues such as the permanence of marriage covenant marriage and the role of religion in marriage This work brings together the work of respected legal scholars and social scientists who articulate why we should care about strengthening the institution of marriage what we can do and what challenges we face Despite dramatic social change marriage remains a critical social institution that promotes individual family and community well being The contributors to this book believe that marriage deserves our best efforts to revitalize it instead of a conscious agenda of benign neglect Here assembled in one place is a clear pro marriage research and policy agenda aimed at revitalizing this institution based on principles of the best interests of children husbands and wives and society at large Contributors from both the social sciences and legal studies illuminate critical issues from a variety of important perspectives providing a comprehensive and respectful treatment of a timely and often divisive subject Committed Relationships and the Law Oran Doyle, William Binchy, 2007

The questioning of traditional family forms is not a new phenomenon However it has recently developed a new dimension in the gay rights movement's claim for legal recognition of committed relationships other than traditional marriage This collection of essays explores the moral practical and legal issues that arise from proposals to recognise such committed relationships The history of the Irish gay rights movement and its contribution to the current issue of partnership recognition are traced The roles played by marriage in the procreation and raising of children and as the supreme expression of inter personal commitment are also explored from different perspectives in separate essays Egalitarian arguments in favour of partnership recognition are advanced by Oran Doyle and Robert Wintemute while William Binchy makes the case on the basis of personal autonomy for life long marriage John Mee explores in detail the current proposals for reform Eoin Carolan and Eimear Brown assess the likely impact of the Constitution and the European Convention on Human Rights respectively Ursula Kilkelly examines the issues that arise where children are born into or become part of the committed relationships of their parents This timely collection of essays will stimulate those interested in this issue and provide practical guidance on the legal scope for and limits on possible change An Evaluation of Three Models of Change in Romantic

Relationships Dannelle Yolanda Larsen-Rife, 2006 The Futures of the Family Charles L. Jones, Lorne Tepperman, Susannah Jane Wilson, 1995 This text considers what family life used to be like in other times and what it is currently like in other places It examines positive and negative aspects of recent changes perceptions of family images of the family in the media and issues such as divorce and family breakdown Social Structures Klaus Warner Schaeie, Peter Uhlenberg, PhD, 2007-03-23 Print CourseSmart Brigham Young University Law Review, 2001 Studia Islamika, 1997

The Way We Really Are Stephanie Coontz, 1997-04-03 Some problems associated with these changes Coontz explains come from economic and cultural forces beyond the family others exist not because our families have changed too much but because our institutions and values haven't changed enough
