Up In Mamies Diary:

Up in Mamie's Diary John Colleton, 1987-02-01      Up in Mamie's Diary Robert W. Marks, 1975      Single, White, Slaveholding Women in the Nineteenth-Century American South Marie S. Molloy, 2018-07-15 A broad and eloquent study on the relatively overlooked population of single women in the slaveholding South Single White Slaveholding Women in the Nineteenth Century American South investigates the lives of unmarried white women from the pre to the post Civil War South within a society that placed high value on women's marriage and motherhood Marie S Molloy examines female singleness to incorporate non marriage widowhood separation and divorce These single women were not subject to the laws and customs of coverture in which females were covered or subject to the governance of fathers brothers and husbands and therefore lived with greater autonomy than married women Molloy contends that the Civil War proved a catalyst for accelerating personal social economic and legal changes for these women Being a single woman during this time often meant living a nuanced life operating within a tight framework of traditional gender conventions while manipulating them to greater advantage Singleness was often a route to autonomy and independence that over time expanded and reshaped traditional ideals of southern womanhood Molloy delves into these themes and their effects through the lens of the various facets of the female life femininity family work friendship law and property By examining letters and diaries of more than three hundred white native born southern women Molloy creates a broad and eloquent study on the relatively overlooked population of single women in both the urban and plantation slaveholding South She concludes that these women were in various ways pioneers and participants of a slow but definite process of change in the antebellum era      Salt and Light Margaret Sinclair, 2002 Mamie and Jack Martin were Livingstonia Scottish missionaries to Bandawe and Ekwendeni in what was then Nyasaland in Central Africa This book consists of their letters home and diary entries from the 1920s and provides vivid and detailed descriptions of their lives as missionaries and of the local church communities of the period The letters have been selected and edited by their eldest daughter Margaret Sinclair who returned to Bandawe whilst preparing the texts and researching the historical context Her notes to the letters review an important chapter in Malawian church history which is to date under researched and under represented The book is intended to fill a gap in the narrative of Malawi's history and promote a greater understanding of Scotland and Malawi's shared history in the author's words to explain 1920s Scotland to 2002 Malawi and 1920s Malawi to 2002 Scotland      Paperbound Books in Print, 1984      Catalog of Copyright Entries.
