Browning, Caroline Joan "Kay" S. Picart, 2009-04-08 Since the publication of Dracula in 1897 Bram Stoker's original creation has been a source of inspiration for artists, writers, and filmmakers. From Universal's early black and white films and Hammer's Technicolor representations that followed, iterations of Dracula have been cemented in mainstream cinema. This anthology investigates and explores the far larger body of work coming from sources beyond mainstream cinema, reinventing Dracula. Dracula's Vampires and Other Undead Forms assembles provocative essays that examine Dracula films and their movement across borders of nationality, sexuality, ethnicity, gender, and genre since the 1920s. The essays analyze the complexity Dracula embodies outside the conventional landscape of films with which the vampire is typically associated. Focusing on Dracula and Dracula-type characters in film, anime, and literature from predominantly non-Anglo markets, this anthology offers unique perspectives that seek to ground depictions and experiences of Dracula within a larger political, historical, and cultural framework.

Taken over by vampires a thousand years ago, the planet has been able to rejuvenate and is now governed as a civilized society by The Collective. Prince Alexander Gronovski and his family are the owners of the world's only all-female cattle farm. Their responsibility is to provide vampire-kind with feeders and carriers for their offspring. The only way vampires can produce pure-blood children is to undergo the impregnation ceremony. Alex and his lover Jade must oversee the ceremony and deliver the vampire babies whilst fending off his killer father, a promised bride, and hormonal humans.

Little does she realize that the change in her looks is the least of her concern. For her body has many more surprises for her that she will have to learn to contend with. If vampires don't kill her, she may just learn what is in store for her. However, even as she has to evade death at their hands, she must also take care not to fall under the influence of the sirens or allow the anger of the werewolf to color her perception.
