The Time Of Reckoning:

Language and Time Vyvyan Evans,2013-10-03 Vyvyan Evans focuses on the linguistic and conceptual resources we make use of when we fix events in time

The Structure of Time Vyvyan Evans,2004-03-05 One of the most enigmatic aspects of experience concerns time Since pre Socratic times scholars have speculated about the nature of time asking questions such as What is time Where does it come from Where does it go The central proposal of The Structure of Time is that time at base constitutes a phenomenologically real experience Drawing on findings in psychology neuroscience and utilising the perspective of cognitive linguistics this work argues that our experience of time may ultimately derive from perceptual processes which in turn enable us to perceive events As such temporal experience is a pre requisite for abilities such as event perception and comparison rather than an abstraction based on such phenomena The book represents an examination of the nature of temporal cognition with two foci i an investigation into pre conceptual temporal experience and ii an analysis of temporal structure at the conceptual level which derives from temporal experience

A Treatise on Time and Space J. R. Lucas,2018-10-10 Originally published in 1976 This comprehensive study discusses in detail the philosophical mathematical physical logical and theological aspects of our understanding of time and space The text examines first the many different definitions of time that have been offered beginning with some of the puzzles arising from our awareness of the passage of time and shows how time can be understood as the concomitant of consciousness In considering time as the dimension of change the author obtains a transcendental derivation of the concept of space and shows why there has to be only one dimension of time and three of space and why Kant was not altogether misguided in believing the space of our ordinary experience to be Euclidean The concept of space time is then discussed including Lorentz transformations and in an examination of the applications of tense logic the author discusses the traditional difficulties encountered in arguments for fatalism In the final sections he discusses eternity and the beginning and end of the universe The book includes sections on the continuity of space and time on the directedness of time on the differences between classical mechanics and the Special and General theories of relativity on the measurement of time on the apparent slowing down of moving clocks and on time and probability
