Stone Island:

A Place to Belong Gerald L. Pocius, 2000 A Place to Belong is a profusely illustrated intimate contemporary portrait of Calvert a three hundred year old fishing village on Newfoundland's southern shore Often using its residents own words Gerald Pocius describes in detail the continual creative encounters between past and present between individual and community that make up daily life in Calvert By accepted standards of tradition Calvert's culture is declining Old structures are regularly torn down or renovated antique household items are replaced with modern conveniences Pocius argues however that the tangible expressions of a culture can be misleading Calvert's essence is not in the things owned and used by its residents but in the spaces in which those things abide and in the attitudes values and obligations that delineate the order of those spaces From woodlands water and fields to yards gardens and homes Calvert's physical and social structure is governed by shared concerns about the community's livelihood and welfare As a resident of Calvert puts it Where you're working in the same space with people you know it's just not practical to be falling out with everyone The sense of community that pervades Calvert is best exemplified by its annual draw for fishing berths Because productivity varies among offshore fishing grounds there is no private ownership of fishing rights Rather a lottery instituted in 1919 ensures each family the same chances for periodic access to the best fishing berths The draw continues until all the fishing berths are awarded but it is common for a family to opt out once they have drawn enough good berths There are also instances of the most successful fishing operations sharing their catches From his observations of Calvert's people at work and leisure Pocius provides evidence to confirm the viability and durability of their culture He reveals that standard assumptions about culture are inadequate particularly those based on the primacy of artefacts and on sharp dichotomies between tradition and modernity Calvert he shows belies our notion that declining cultural values and social segmentation are unavoidable side effects of modernisation and a rise in material well being A Place to Belong will promote a constructive scepticism about the ways we perceive and interpret cultures and most important will remind us of what it really means to belong to a place

Product Innovation in the Global Fashion Industry Byoung-ho Jin, Elena Cedrola, 2017-11-27 As an initial attempt to understand innovation in fashion this volume focuses on product innovations realizing that this industry is truly an innovative sector in which diverse technologies science art and tradition have been merged synthesized and utilized to solve the needs and concerns of the end users In doing so this book categorizes product innovation into three levels materials style and product development and aims to present the broader scope of innovation in the global fashion industry with the hope that other sectors can learn from these developments and be inspired
