Stories Told By Flashlight:

Stories Told by Flashlight Mark Allyn Stewart, 2006-02-01 It doesn't take a genius to know that no one is perfect. Everyone falls and makes mistakes. Your pain and suffering seems to override your joy and happiness, making you feel all alone. The key thing to understand is that God is the solution to all your life's situations. In times like these, it seems as if life has become hopeless. Relationships have grown without meaning, marriages are torn apart, parents and children are against each other, and friendships are rarely heard of anymore. You are trying to run and hide, but there is nowhere or no one to turn to. You are facing life's situations as they come, while trying to hold on. In this book, you will learn how a young girl who was torn between various life situations struggled to find her way out. She shows you how to analyze your situations and get through them. She expresses how, in times of weakness, God can make you strong. Most of all, she explains how she sought and found God, who has made her life better and complete, as well as gave her a sense of peace and direction. That same peace and direction she has found is available to you, too. The question is, do you want it? Is it dark? Is it scary? Not if you have your trusty flashlight. A charming story told solely through images. Through neatly drawn illustrations and a spare yet dramatic color palette, artist Lizi Boyd offers an enchanting exploration of night nature and art with Flashlight. Both lyrical and humorous, this visual poem, like the flashlight beam itself, reveals there is magic in the darkness. We just have to look for it.
