The Last 10000 Years:

Ten Thousand Years of Cultivation at Kuk Swamp in the Highlands of Papua New Guinea Jack Golson, Tim Denham, Philip Hughes, Pamela Swadling, John Muke, 2017-07-07 Kuk is a settlement at c 1600 m altitude in the upper Wahgi Valley of the Western Highlands Province of Papua New Guinea near Mount Hagen the provincial capital The site forms part of the highland spine that runs for more than 2500 km from the western head of the island of New Guinea to the end of its eastern tail Until the early 1930s when the region was first explored by European outsiders it was thought to be a single uninhabited mountain chain Instead it was found to be a complex area of valleys and basins inhabited by large populations of people and pigs supported by the intensive cultivation of the tropical American sweet potato on the slopes above swampy valley bottoms With the end of World War II the area with others became a focus for the development of coffee and tea plantations of which the establishment of Kuk Research Station was a result Large scale drainage of the swamps produced abundant evidence in the form of stone axes and preserved wooden digging sticks and spades for their past use in cultivation Investigations in 1966 at a tea plantation in the upper Wahgi Valley by a small team from The Australian National University yielded a date of over 2000 years ago for a wooden stick collected from the bottom of a prehistoric ditch The establishment of Kuk Research Station a few kilometres away shortly afterwards provided an ideal opportunity for a research project Literature 1988, Part 2 Astronomisches Rechen-Institut, 2013-06-29 From the reviews Astronomy and Astrophysics Abstracts has appeared in semi annual volumes since 1969 and it has already become one of the fundamental publications in the fields of astronomy astrophysics and neighbouring sciences It is the most important English language abstracting journal in the mentioned branches The abstracts are classified under more than a hundred subject categories thus permitting a quick survey of the whole extended material The AAA is a valuable and important publication for all students and scientists working in the fields of astronomy and related sciences As such it represents a necessary ingredient of any astronomical library all over the world Space Science Reviews 1 Dividing the whole field plus related subjects into 108 categories each work is numbered and most are accompanied by brief abstracts Fairly comprehensive cross referencing links relevant papers to more than one category and exhaustive author and subject indices are to be found at the back making the catalogues easy to use The series appears to be so complete in its coverage and always less than a year out of date that I shall certainly have to make a little more space on those shelves for future volumes The Observatory Magazine 2 The National Climate Program Act and Global Climate Change United States. Subcommittee on Natural Resources, Agriculture Research, and Environment, 1988 The Great Basin Donald Grayson, 2011-04-18 The Great Basin centering on Nevada and including substantial parts of California Oregon and Utah gets its name from the fact that none of its rivers or streams flow to the sea This book synthesizes the past 25 000 years of the natural history of this vast region It explores the extinct animals that lived in the Great Basin during the Ice Age and recounts the rise and fall of the massive Ice

Age lakes that existed here It explains why trees once grew 13 beneath what is now the surface of Lake Tahoe explores the nearly two dozen Great Basin mountain ranges that once held substantial glaciers and tells the remarkable story of how pinyon pine came to cover some 17 000 000 acres of the Great Basin in the relatively recent past These discussions culminate with the impressive history of the prehistoric people of the Great Basin a history that shows how human societies dealt with nearly 13 000 years of climate change on this often challenging landscape Provided by publisher
