Thinking Past Terror:

Thinking Past Terror Susan Buck-Morss, 2020-05-05 Renowned critical theorist Susan Buck Morss argues convincingly that a global public needs to think past the twin insanities of terrorism and counter terrorism in order to dismantle regressive intellectual barriers Surveying the widespread literature on the relationship of Islam to modernity she reveals that there is surprising overlap where scholars commonly and simplistically see antithesis Thinking Past Terror situates this engagement with the study of Islam among critical contemporary discourses feminism post colonialism and the critique of determinism In a new preface to this paperback edition Susan Buck Morss reflects on the events that have marked the world since the book was first published ILL THINKING PAST TERROR ... SUSAN. BUCK-MOSS, 2000 Law, Text, Terror Ian Ward, 2009-04-16 Ian Ward places contemporary political and jurisprudential responses to terrorism within a broader literary cultural and historical context Contemporary Reflections on Critical Terrorism Studies Alice Martini, Raquel da Silva, 2023-05-16 Bringing together established and emerging voices in Critical Terrorism Studies CTS this book offers fresh and dynamic reflections on CTS and envisages possible lines of future research and ways forward The volume is structured in three sections The first opens a space for intellectual engagement with other disciplines such as Sociology Peace Studies Critical Pedagogy and Indigenous Studies The second looks at topics that have not received much attention within CTS such as silences in discourses the politics of counting dead bodies temporality or anarchism The third presents ways of performing CTS through research based artistic performances and productions Overall the volume opens up a space for broadening and pushing CTS forward in new and imaginative ways This book will be of interest to students of critical terrorism studies critical security studies sociology and International Relations in general Chapters 2 of this book are available for free in Open Access at www.taylorfrancis.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International 4.0 license

Antisemitism, Homophobia, and Contemporary Art Ana Hoffner ex-Prvulovic*, 2025-12-24 This book analyzes synchronization as a symptom of the contemporary art world Acting as a tool within present day social economic and political systems synchronization assigns individuals to predetermined forms of representation At its core this book challenges normative synchronization concepts as projections of a unity of bodies and voices past and present self and environment The text offers a non linear art historical narrative of those practices that have consistently tried to desynchronize from antisemitism and homophobia Through thoughtful analysis of art practices from Claude Cahun and Marcel Moore Zanele Muholi Anna Dau kov Sharon Hayes Glenn Ligon and Chantal Akerman the author seeks to address the current wish to create contemporaneity for all often through violence against those perceived as not belonging to it This book is ideal for researchers and scholars in Art History Philosophy Queer Theory Gender Studies and Sociology

The Contemporary Arab Reader on Political Islam Ibrahim M. Abu-Rabi, 2010-08-06 The Contemporary Arab Reader on Political Islam brings together the writings of highly influential figures in the field of Islamism in the contemporary Arab world many of whose writings have never been available before in English Addressing the key issues such as human rights civil society secularism globalisation and ummah and the impact of the West on the modern Arab world this is the perfect starting point for students and academics looking to understand Political Islam in contemporary Arab and Muslim societies The contributors include such important Islamist thinkers and activists as Abdullah Azzam central to the spread of Islamism in Afghanistan Sayyid Muhammad Hussain Fadlallah a major Shiite figure in contemporary Lebanon and Ahmad Bin Yousuf a political advisor to Akram Haniyya in Gaza

Religion and the Specter of the West Arvind-Pal S. Mandair, 2009-10-23 Arguing that intellectual movements such as deconstruction postsecular theory and political theology have different implications for cultures and societies that live with the debilitating effects of past imperialisms Arvind Mandair unsettles the politics of knowledge construction in which the category of religion continues to be central Through a case study of Sikhism he launches an extended critique of religion as a cultural universal At the same time he presents a portrait of how certain aspects of Sikh tradition were reinvented as religion during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries India's imperial elite subtly recast Sikh tradition as a sui generis religion which robbed its teachings of their political force In turn Sikhs began to define themselves as a nation and a world religion that was separate from but parallel to the rise of the Indian state and global Hinduism Rather than investigate these processes in isolation from Europe Mandair shifts the focus closer to the political history of ideas thereby recovering part of Europe's repressed colonial memory Mandair rethinks the intersection of religion and the secular in discourses such as history of religions postcolonial theory and recent continental philosophy Though seemingly unconnected these discourses are shown to be linked to a philosophy of generalized translation that emerged as a key conceptual matrix in the colonial encounter between India and the West In this riveting study Mandair demonstrates how this philosophy of translation continues to influence the repetitions of religion and identity politics in the lives of South Asians and the way the academy state and media have analyzed such phenomena

Dissent from War Robert L. Ivie, 2007 The rhetorical presumption of war's necessity makes violence regrettable but seemingly sane and functions to shame anyone who opposes military action Ivie proposes that the presence of dissent is actually a healthy sign of democratic citizenship and a responsible and productive act which has been dangerously miscast as a threat to national security Ivie a former US Navy petty officer puts a microscope to the language of war supporters throughout history and follows the lives and memories of soldiers and anti war activists who have dealt with degrees of confusion and guilt about their opposition to war Arguing that informed dissent plays out largely in the realm of rhetoric he equips readers with strategies for resisting the dehumanizing language used in war propaganda Through his careful study of language strategies he makes it possible to foster a community where dissenting voices are valued and vital

Handbook of Cultural Politics and Education, 2010-01-01 In academia the effects of the cultural turn have been felt deeply In everyday life tenets from cultural politics have influenced how people behave or regard their options for action such as the reconfiguration of social movements protests and praxis in general Many authors writing in this field are known for their scholarship and social activism both of which are arguably guided by principles of cultural politics about the nature of representation and the deployment of power in political discourses The Handbook of Cultural Politics and Education is less an attempt to standardize contemporary educational scholarship and more a collection that engages the problems and promises of recent themes in social and cultural thought which require our attention and demand a response In other words it opens doors to questions rather than convenient answers to difficult educational dilemmas The Handbook is part of the appraisal of an opening created by interdisciplinary writings on such themes as representation civil society cultural struggle subjectivity and media within the context of education Indeed cultural politics troubles traditional frameworks in search of critical explanations concerning education s place within society The contributions in the collection support this endeavor

Secularism and Religion-Making Markus Dressler, Arvind Mandair, 2011-10-03 This book conceives of religion making broadly as the multiple ways in which social and cultural phenomena are configured and reconfigured within the matrix of a world religion discourse that is historically and semantically rooted in particular Western and predominantly Christian experiences knowledges and institutions It investigates how religion is universalized and certain ideas social formations and practices rendered religious are thus integrated in and subordinated to very particular mostly liberal secular assumptions about the relationship between history politics and religion The individual contributions written by a new generation of scholars with decisively interdisciplinary approaches examine the processes of translation and globalization of historically specific concepts and practices of religion and its dialectical counterpart the secular into new contexts This volume contributes to the relatively new field of thought that aspires to unravel the thoroughly intertwined relationships between religion and secularism as modern concepts

Terror and Territory Stuart Elden, 2009 Today s global politics demands a new look at the concept of territory From so called deterritorialized terrorist organizations such as al Qaeda to U S led overthrows of existing regimes in the Middle East the relationship between territory and sovereignty is under siege Unfolding an updated understanding of the concept of territory Stuart Elden shows how the contemporary war on terror is part of a widespread challenge to the connection between the state and its territory Although the importance of territory has been disputed under globalization territorial relations have not come to an abrupt end Rather Elden argues the territory sovereignty relation is being reconfigured Traditional geopolitical analysis is transformed into a critical device for interrogating hegemonic geopolitics after the Cold War and is employed in the service of reconsidering discourses of danger that include failed states disconnection and terrorist networks Looking anew at the war on terror the development and application of U S policy the construction and demonization of rogue states events in Lebanon Somalia and Pakistan and the wars continuing in Afghanistan and Iraq Terror and Territory demonstrates how a critical geographical analysis informed by political theory and history can offer an urgently needed perspective on world events
