Thirteen Seconds Confrontation At Kent State:

Thirteen Seconds: Confrontation at Kent State Eszterhas, Joe, Roberts, Michael D., 2012-07-20 The dramatic and eye opening original account of events that shook the nation At noon on May 4 1970 a thirteen second burst of gunfire transformed the campus of Kent State University into a national nightmare National Guard bullets killed four students and wounded nine By nightfall the campus was evacuated and the school was closed A generation of college students said they had lost all hope for the System and the future Yet Kent State was not a radical university like Berkeley Columbia or Harvard Although a new mood had been growing among the students in recent years the school was not known for political activity or demonstrations In fact exactly one week before students had held their traditional spring is here mudfight What most alarmed Americans was the knowledge that if this tragedy could occur at Kent State on a campus made up of the children of the Silent Majority and in the heart of Middle America it could happen anywhere But why how did it happen that young Americans in battle helmets gas masks and combat boots confronted other young Americans wearing bell bottom trousers flowered shirts and shoulder length hair What were the issues and why did the confrontation escalate so terribly Would there be future confrontations like the one of May 4 To answer these questions prize winning reporters Eszterhas and Roberts who were on campus on May 4 spent weeks interviewing all the participants in the tragedy They traveled to victims homes and talked to relatives and friends they spoke to National Guardsmen on the firing line and to students who were fired on By putting together hundreds of first person accounts they were able to establish for the first time what actually took place on the day of the shooting

Cops on Campus Yalile Suriel, Grace Watkins, Jude Paul Matias Dizon, John Joseph Sloan III, 2024-02-06 Interrogates the relationship between higher education and the carceral state Over the last five years headlines have thrust campus police departments from relative obscurity into the national spotlight Campus constituents have called for campus police as a tangible manifestation of the War on Crime within the sphere of higher education to be disarmed defunded and abolished Using a multidisciplinary approach that draws from the fields of history American studies ethnic studies criminology higher education and sociology Cops on Campus provides critical perspectives on the organization and social consequences of campus policing Chapters uncover details of the structure and culture of university police some of the best funded and largest private police forces in the nation and examine the institution in relation to racialized and gendered violence racial profiling and the surveillance of marginalized communities on and off campus The volume also features interviews with students staff and faculty activists to showcase efforts to redefine and reimagine campus safety and explore alternatives for the future

The Kent State Incident Thomas R. Hensley, 1981-06-26 The Deadline Jill Lepore, 2023-08-29 Jill Lepore is unquestionably one of America's best historians it's fair to say she's one of its best writers too Jonathan Russell Clark Los Angeles Times Best Books of 2023 New Yorker TIME A book to be read and kept for posterity The Deadline is the art of the essay at its best Few if any historians have brought such insight wisdom and empathy to public discourse as Jill Lepore Arriving at The New Yorker in 2005 Lepore with her panoptical range and razor sharp style brought a transporting freshness and a literary vivacity to everything from profiles of long dead writers to urgent constitutional analysis to an unsparing scrutiny of the woeful affairs of the nation itself The astonishing essays collected in The Deadline offer a prismatic portrait of Americans techno utopianism frantic fractiousness and unprecedented but armed aimlessness From lockdowns and race commissions to Bratz dolls and bicycles to the losses that haunt Lepore s life these essays again and again cross what she calls the deadline the river of time that divides the quick from the dead Echoing Gore Vidal s United States in its massive intellectual erudition The Deadline with its remarkable juxtaposition of the political and the personal challenges the very nature of the essay and of history itself

Hate the War Honor the Soldier Robert M. Givens, 2020-12-01 Robert M Givens grew up in the Midwest graduating in 1966 from Millikin University in his hometown of Decatur Illinois and from Indiana University in 1968 He married his college sweetheart Connie and by age twenty four worked as assistant to the dean of students at the University of Connecticut His wife was a schoolteacher and they both were hopeful that his job at a respected university and his age would help him avoid the draft However as the US increased its military involvement in Vietnam more bodies were needed to fight in this unpopular war Robert received his draft notice in early 1969 and after five months of training he was sent to serve in the infantry in South Vietnam The war experiences were intensely personal for Robert He thought his education somehow made him intellectually superior to most soldiers he thought his age and marital status gave him some vocational privilege he felt secure in his religious agnosticism All of these views were challenged during his time in Vietnam The war time experiences were life changing for him He and his fellow soldiers came home from a war in the fields of Vietnam to a war of protests raging in the streets of our cities This story tells in poignant ways how these experiences eventually reformed Robert s life including a new found faith in the Lord And years later he found heroes who emerged and encouraged him and other returning soldiers helping both them and our country to heal

Hot Type, Cold Beer and Bad News Michael D. Roberts, 2018-11-01 The 1960s were the most turbulent era in Cleveland history and an exciting time to be a newspaper reporter This memoir takes you back to the tumult It s an eyewitness account by a veteran journalist who as an ambitious young reporter covered the major events of the day civil rights violence corruption and crime Vietnam Kent State and more Cleveland was already changing by the beginning of the 1960s Racial unrest migration to the suburbs and the decline of its once mighty industrial base reshaped the city s politics and population Cleveland found itself at the forefront of social upheaval that would sweep the nation and alter America In those days a journalist could find a story that reflected the times down the street or around the world Reporting for the Plain Dealer Michael D Roberts covered a decade of destruction death and dissension from the riots on Cleveland s East Side to the Tet Offensive in Vietnam the aftermath of the Six Day War in the Middle East and the tragedy of the Kent State shootings There were enlightened moments too For a good part of that decade the eyes of the nation were on Cleveland watching whether it would elect the first African American mayor of a major American city It did in Carl B Stokes It was also the last golden hour of print newspapers although they didn t know it yet Technology had not yet altered the business All a journalist needed was a pen a notebook a typewriter a pay phone and a pocketful of change Television was only just beginning to make a serious impact on news reporting Newspapers were a unifying force in communities a friendly visitor that arrived on your doorstep every day But by decade s end the spirit of revolt would come to haunt the newspaper and pluck both the verve and the soul from it For a reporter in search of a big story though bad times were also the best of times This is the way it was
