Tremors Andrew Sant, 2004 Tremors New and Selected Poems is the distillation of Andrew Sant s poetry published over the last twenty five years Rhythmically engaging with a passion for sensual observation his poems shift readily from seriousness to wit and whether about music marine biology or Martian meteorites they reveal a speculative questing intelligence Welcoming his recent shorter Selected in the United Kingdom Christopher Reid wrote It s full of excellences humane highly intelligent artistically delicious witty cliché free His wide ranging new poems explore fresh perceptual territories

Mahler's Symphonic World Karol Berger, 2025-01-14 A new analysis of Mahler s symphonies placing each within the context of his musical way of being in and experiencing the world Between 1888 and 1909 Gustav Mahler completed nine symphonies and the orchestral song cycle Das Lied von der Erde his tenth symphony was left incomplete at his death in 1911 Mahler s Symphonic World provocatively suggests that over his lifetime the composer pursued a single vision and a single ideal symphony that strived to capture his personal outlook on human existence Writing at the turn of the twentieth century when all trust in firm philosophical and spiritual foundations had evaporated Mahler s music reflected a deep preoccupation with human suffering and transience and a search for sources of possible consolation In Karol Berger s reading each of the symphonies follows a similar trajectory with an opening quest leading to the final unveiling of a transcendent consolatory vision By juxtaposing single movements the opening Allegros the middle movements the Finales

across different works Berger traces recurring plotlines and imagery and discloses the works multiple interrelationships as well as their cohesiveness around a central idea Ultimately Mahler's Symphonic World locates Mahler's music within the matrix of intellectual currents that defined his epoch and offers a revelatory picture of his musical way of being in the world

Segel, 2003 The Iron Curtain concealed from western eyes a vital group of national and regional writers Marked by not only geographical proximity but also by the shared experience of communism and its collapse the countries of Eastern Europe Poland Hungary Albania Romania Bulgaria and the former states of Yugoslavia Czechoslovakia and East Germany share literatures that reveal many common themes when examined together Compiled by a leading scholar the guide includes an overview of literary trends in historical context a listing of some 700 authors by country and an A to Z section of articles on the most influential writers

The Hidden Handshake Aleš Debeljak, 2004-09-27 The Hidden Handshake uses four distinct yet intertwined essays to address the questions surrounding our notions of citizenship national identity and cosmopolitan belonging The violent disintegration of Yugoslavia and the undercurrent of EU enlargement stand out as two contrasting movements that highlight the importance of having a national identification while also defying it to avoid both the rigidity of nationalist exclusivism and the blithe nonsense of global citizenship Through the exploration of sociohistorical material and artistic visions as well as the author's layered identity as a Slovene a Yugoslav a Central European and a European Ale_ Debeljak tries to show that it is possible to remain faithful to geography history and community even as one fosters links to global cultural movements Not surprisingly the book itself shares some of this hybrid identity It uses not only theoretical concepts and empirical data but also historical sketches on art national life and society along with poetic autobiographical reminiscences and personal anecdotes Ultimately the book calls for an adoption of liberal nationalism which is commensurate with democratic order and for a more ecumenical understanding of artistic visions that does not discriminate on the grounds of one's place of origin
