

Here list all possible abbreviations you have used in your research with their whole meaning. You can list them alphabetically for ease of identification—for example, SPSS: Statistical Package for Social Sciences.

Abstract

An abstract summarizes your research work from introduction, empirical reviews, methodology used, your findings, and conclusion. This section should be around 250 words having an overview of your work.

Chapter 1 - Introduction

It is the first chapter of your research work. It has several aspects. Introduce your research work, providing background information on the various aspects of your topic. Have a detailed introduction on the case to understand the background of where your research is. A well-organized introduction should offer background information from the global perspective, then continental, regional, and country or specific geographical area of interest. It shows that you have mastered your interested area of study well, from the global level to the local level where you have carried out your study.

Purpose of the study

Also referred to as the main objective of your study by some college formats, it's basically what your research work is all about.

Research Objectives

In every research, you need to have formulated the objectives that you intend to meet. Research objectives are from the independent variables in the conceptual framework you developed (see conceptual framework below). The possible variables in your conceptual framework make the basis of this section.

Research Questions

Research objectives are then used to formulate research questions you intend to answer as you meet your research goals.

Significance of the study

In this section, state why your study is important to the academic world. No research is done just for the sake of doing research. It involves resources; hence it must have some degree of significance and relevance. For instance, it can document information that has never been recorded or add knowledge to the academic world.

Limitation of your study

As a researcher, you are going into the field to collect data from various respondents via interviews or questionnaires. In a normal society, you will encounter multiple types of
