Low, 1999 This is the second revised edition of Thieves' Kitchen Regency Underworld detailing the underworld where crime and vice flourished in Regency England The book presents a vivid picture of pleasure seekers criminals and body snatchers at work Subcultures Ken Gelder, 2007-01-24 Ken Gelder covers a remarkable range of forms and practices across many different subcultural groups from the Ranters to the riot grrrls from bebop to hip hop and from hippies and Bohemians to digital pirates and virtual communities Tyburn Alan Brooke, David Brandon, 2005-11-17 Tyburn is synonymous with the idea of execution The authors tell the story of how Tyburn came to be the place of execution and of the rituals and spectacle associated with the deaths of many people They provide a vivid picture of crime and punishment in London mixing martyrs pickpockets traitors and errant aristocrats Making England Western Saree Makdisi, 2024-05-31 The central argument of Edward Said's Orientalism is that the relationship between Britain and its colonies was primarily oppositional based on contrasts between conquest abroad and domestic order at home Saree Makdisi directly challenges that premise in Making England Western identifying the convergence between the British Empire's civilizing mission abroad and a parallel mission within England itself and pointing to Romanticism as one of the key sites of resistance to the imperial culture in Britain after 1815 Makdisi argues that there existed places and populations in both England and the colonies that were thought of in similar terms for example there were sites in England that might as well have been Arabia and English people to whom the idea of the freeborn Englishman did not extend The boundaries between us and them began to take form during the Romantic period when England became a desirable Occidental space connected with but superior to distant lands Delving into the works of Wordsworth Austen Byron Dickens and others to trace an arc of celebration ambivalence and criticism influenced by these imperial dynamics Makdisi demonstrates the extent to which Romanticism offered both hopes for and warnings against future developments in Occidentalism Revealing that Romanticism provided a way to resist imperial logic about improvement and moral virtue Making England Western is an exciting contribution to the study of both British literature and colonialism Babylon or New Jerusalem? , 2016-08-29 Today more than ever literature and the other arts make use of urban structures it is in the city that the global and universal joins the local and individual Babylon or New Jerusalem Perceptions of the City in Literature draws a map of the concept of the city in literature and represents the major issues involved Contributions to the volume revisit cities such as the London of Wordsworth Dorothy Richardson and Virginia Woolf or Rilke's Paris but also travel to the politics of power in Renaissance theatre at Ferrara and to deliberate urban erasures in post apartheid South Africa The texts represented range from Renaissance plays to contemporary novels and to poetry from various periods with references to the visual arts including film The role of memory in contemplating the city and also specific urban metaphors developed in literature such as boxing the square ring and jazz are also discussed The transformation of cities by legislation on cemeteries by lighting or by projects of urban renewal are the subject of articles while others reflect on images of the city in worlds specifically forged by writers like William Blake and James Thomson The contributors themselves live and work in many varied cities thus representing a dynamic and real variety of critical approaches and introducing a strong theoretical and comparative element Stand and Deliver!
