The Third Shift Cheris Kramarae, 2001 This report explores why women pursue education how they balance work family and education and what would make distance learning easier for them and makes recommendations for improvements Page 85

Agents of Change Gabriele Kreutzner, Heidi Schelhowe, 2012-12-06 One of the major driving forces behind the international Women's University was the interest in changing the traditional university In its pursuit of this goal the project vifu the Virtual International University combined the overall focus on gender with a conceptual stress on virtuality as a potential inroad to transform and innovate the established academic system This collection presents results and critical evaluations of the vifu as a feminist project designed in favor of change In addition to this the volume presents and discusses projects which theoretically and practically integrate the new ICTs into their departure to new horizons in higher education and research and at the same practice a particular sensitivity towards gender as a social category The authors of this anthology share the perspective on the category of gender and ICT related developments summed up by virtuality as potential tools for transforming traditional academia While change is not considered as a quality per se each contribution makes its case for specific kinds of making new In doing so they also seek answers to the questions of a democratic and socially responsible knowledge production and distribution in the 21 st century

Women in Higher Education Ana M. Martínez Alemán, Kristen A. Renn, 2002-12-13 The only comprehensive encyclopedia on the subject of women in higher education America's first wave of feminists Susan B Anthony Elizabeth Cady Stanton and others included expanded opportunities for higher education in their Declaration of Sentiments at the first Women's Rights Convention in Seneca Falls New York in 1848 By then the first American institutions to educate women had been founded among them Mt Holyoke Seminary in 1837 However not until after the Civil War did most universities admit women and not for egalitarian purposes War casualties had caused a drop in enrollment and the states needed teachers Women students paid tuition but as teachers were paid salaries half that of men By the late 20th century there were more female than male students of higher education but women remained underrepresented at the higher levels of educational leadership and training This volume covers everything from historical and cultural context and gender theory to women in the curriculum and as faculty and administrators

The Encyclopedia of Female Pioneers in Online Learning Susan Bainbridge, Norine Wark, 2022-07-19 The Encyclopedia of Female Pioneers of Online Learning is the first volume to explore the lives and scholarship of women who have prominently advanced online learning From its humble origins as distance education courses conducted via postal correspondence to today's advances in the design and delivery of dynamic technology enhanced instruction the ever evolving field of online learning continues to be informed by the seminal research and institutional leadership of women This landmark book details 30 preeminent female academics including some of the first to create online courses design learning management systems research innovative topics such as discourse analysis or open resources and speak explicitly about gender parity in the field Offering comprehensive career profiles original interviews and research analyses these chapters are illuminating on their own right while amounting to an essential combination of reference material and primary source

Discussion-Based Online Teaching To Enhance Student Learning Tisha Bender,2023-07-03 The new edition of what is now considered a classic on online learning has been expanded by about a third to reflect new opportunities offered by social media new insights and ideas derived from the author s teaching in the eight years since she wrote the first edition as well as from extensive research in the latest literature In particular Tisha Bender investigates whether the existing paradigm of teaching and learning has been changed not so much because of the advent of the Internet but because of the potential divide between the expectations and practices of students who are digital natives of the digital revolution and those of their teachers who are mostly digital immigrants She addresses the question do we need to change the way we teach in order to reach and engage digital natives fruitfully and enjoyably in their education This accessible and comprehensive book offers an engaging and practical approach to online teaching that is rooted in the author s experience and enthusiasm for creating a virtual environment that engages students and fosters their deep learning This is a book for all educators and administrators in higher education in any discipline engaged in or contemplating offering online classes that involve discussion or collaborative learning It is relevant both to faculty teaching a hybrid and face to face classes and courses conducted entirely online

Women Political Leaders in Rwanda and South Africa Naleli Mpho Soledad Morojele,2016-01-25 Narratives of Triumph and Loss explores the successes challenges and controversies of women s post conflict political leadership Through interviews with women who have held significant leadership positions the book explores the relationships between their educational professional activist and personal backgrounds It situates their stories within historical and contemporary political contexts illustrating the gendered ways in which women experience politics as citizens and politicians

Equitable Access Olivia Adwoa Tiwaah Frimpong Kwapong,2010 Concerns about new learning environments have spurred the debate as to whether the new world of online teaching and virtual studying might be as closed to the developing world especially the women as the traditional universities were until the turn of the twentieth century Gender specific and feminist research shows that women often have less access to technology less control over the ICT Information and Communication Technology in their homes and places of work and less confidence and competency in using these technologies According to the United Nations lack of access to information is the third most important issue facing women globally after poverty and violence against women Equitable Access looks in detail at the ODL Online Distance Learning and ICT situations in Ghana The author provides a critical assessment of the strengths and threats to the development of an effective distance education program in tertiary institutions in Ghana surfacing the need to promote equity in educational access Based on a survey of distance learners in four public universities the author navigates to the heart of issues and determines that in Ghana and for that matter Africa the digital and gender divides could further widen if conscious effort is not made to mainstream ICT in all gender issues

American Women of Science since 1900 Tiffany K. Wayne, 2010-10-11 A comprehensive examination of American women scientists across the sciences throughout the 20th century providing a rich historical context for understanding their achievements and the way they changed the practice of science Much more than a Who's Who this exhaustive two volume encyclopedia examines the significant achievements of 20th century American women across the sciences in light of the historical and cultural factors that affected their education employment and research opportunities With coverage that includes a number of scientists working today the encyclopedia shows just how much the sciences have evolved as a professional option for women from the dawn of the 20th century to the present American Women of Science since 1900 focuses on 500 of the 20th century's most notable American women scientists many overlooked undervalued or simply not well known In addition it offers individual features on 50 different scientific disciplines Women in Astronomy etc as well as essays on balancing career and family girls and science education and other sociocultural topics Readers will encounter some extraordinary scientific minds at work getting a sense of the obstacles they faced as the scientific community faced the questions of feminism and gender confronting the nation as a whole

Teaching Literature and Language Online Ian Lancashire, 2009 The essays in this collection illuminate the realities of teaching language and literature courses online Contributors present snapshots of their experiences with online pedagogies realizing that just as this year's technology writes over last year's the approaches and teaching tools they have pioneered will also be obscured by future innovations At the same time the volume describes models that first time teachers of online courses will find useful and provides extensive insights into online education for those who are experienced in teaching blended and open source courses

Résumé de l'auteur Teenage Girls in Virtual Worlds Kim Mitchell Bethea, 2002

Webbing Cyberfeminist Practice Kristine Blair, Radhika Gajjala, Christine Tulley, 2009 This is the first book collection to devote itself exclusively to issues related to women's lives in a culture of technology As such it is a key addition to feminist new media scholarship in computers and composition The book holds special appeal as the editors have put into conversation chapters of authors from diverse disciplines The value that is placed on cross disciplinary work is further demonstrated in the mix of theoretical pedagogical and rhetorical research that enriches the book in its entirety To explore the variety of cyberfeminist webs the collection has been organized around three themes Chapters in Forming Virtual Kinships examine cyberfeminist practices that do not neatly operate in standard academic communities such as classrooms or cultural centers instead foregrounding the extent to which female communities evolve around aspects of women s daily lives as mothers consumers and workers Chapters in Redrawing Academic Boundaries offer a glimpse of practice within more defined pedagogical spaces providing a sense of the ways in which classroom and community network boundaries are often blurred and disrupted Last the text moves to explore how cyberfeminist webs both on the beyond the borders of standard spaces are developed using a variety of theoretical standpoints

Where the Girls are Christianne Corbett,Catherine Hill,Andresse St. Rose,2008 This report presents a comprehensive look at girls educational achievement during the past 35 years paying special attention to the relationship between girls and boys progress Analyses of results from national standardized tests such as the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP and the SAT and ACT college entrance examinations as well as other measures of educational achievement provide an overall picture of trends in gender equity from elementary school to college and beyond Differences among girls and among boys by race ethnicity and family income level are evaluated Together these analyses support three overarching facts about gender equity in schools today 1 Girls successes don t come at boys expense 2 girls and boys educational performance has improved and 3 understanding disparities by race ethnicity and family income level is critical to understanding girls and boys achievement The report finds that many girls as well as boys are not acquiring the educational skills needed to succeed in the 21st century economy The report dispels the myth of a boys crisis and calls for a refocused public debate on the deep divisions among schoolchildren by race ethnicity and family income level This report illustrates that while educational trends for both girls and boys are generally positive disparities by race ethnicity and family income level exist and are critical to understanding the landscape of education in America today Two appendixes include 1 NAEP Supplementary Figures and 2 SAT and ACT Supplementary Figures Contains 59 figures and 25 footnotes Funding for this publication was provided by Lilo and Gerard Leeds and the Mooneen Lecce Giving Circle For the Executive Summary see ED501320

African and Asian Studies ,2003 The Australasian Review of African Studies ,2006 Behind the Pay Gap Judy Goldberg Dey,Catherine Alison Hill,2007 Women have made remarkable gains in education during the past three decades yet these achievements have resulted in only modest improvements in pay equity The gender pay gap has become a fixture of the U S workplace and is so ubiquitous that many simply view it as normal Behind the Pay Gap examines the gender pay gap for college graduates One year out of college women working full time earn only 80 percent as much as their male colleagues earn Ten years after graduation women fall farther behind earning only 69 percent as much as men earn Controlling for hours occupation parenthood and other factors normally associated with pay college educated women still earn less than their male peers earn Despite the progress women have made gender pay equity in the workplace remains an issue Improvements to federal equal pay laws are needed to ensure that women and men are compensated fairly when they perform the same or comparable work Flexibility meaningful part time work opportunities and expanded provisions for medical and family leave are important to help women and men better balance work and family responsibilities Making gender pay equity a reality will require action by individuals employers and federal and state governments The methodology is appended Contains 24 figures This report was published by the American Association of University AAUW Women Educational Foundation Harassment-free Hallways, 2003 Digital Writing Research Heidi A. McKee, Dànienne Nicole DeVoss, 2007 Focuses on how writing technologies specifically digital technologies affect research shaping the questions asked the sites studied the methodologies used ethical issues conclusions and the actions taken by scholars and teachers This volume offers an introduction to possible approaches and related methodological and ethical issues
