"Landscape, Art and Identity in 1950s Britain" Catherine Jolivet, 2017-07-05 During the years following World War II debates about the British landscape fused with questions of national identity as the country reconstructed its sense of self For better or for worse artists statesmen and ordinary citizens saw themselves reflected in the landscape and in turn helped to shape the way that others envisioned the land While landscape art is frequently imagined in terms of painting this book examines the role of landscape in terms of a broader definition of visual culture to include the discussion not only of works of oil on canvas but also prints sculpture photography advertising fashion journalism artists biographies and the multi media stage of the national exhibition Making extensive use of archival materials newspaper reviews radio broadcasts interviews with artists letters and exhibition planning documents Catherine Jolivet explores the intersection of landscape art with a variety of discourses including the role of women in contemporary society the status of immigrant artists in Britain developments in science and technology and the promotion of British art and culture abroad The Work of Graham Sutherland Douglas Cooper, 1962 Graham Sutherland Graham Vivian Sutherland, Martin Hammer, 2005 This important book revisits a major figure from a now somewhat neglected generation who dominated the British art scene in the 1930s and 1940s Focusing on the period from the mid 1930s when Sutherland established his identity as a modern painter to the 1950s when his influence began to wane it portrays the types of work that gave rise to a widespread consensus amongst fellow artists and critics that Sutherland was the most exciting and compelling voice in contemporary British painting Two particular strands of his imagery are discussed the landscapes of Pembrokeshire and the South of France before and after the Second World War and the scenes of devastation produced for the War Artists scheme run by Sutherland's great friend Kenneth Clark The dramatic colour and lighting and the metamorphosis of observed form in his pictures of bombed buildings tin mines and factory interiors struck a powerful emotional chord in such traumatic times The book also includes sections on the early 1920s etchings which introduced certain fundamentals of his art and on the initial emergence of his portraiture with the creation of Somerset Maugham in 1949 There are also carefully selected works by other artists past and present in whom Sutherland took an interest such as Blake Palmer Nash and Masson Published to accompany the major exhibition at Dulwich Picture Gallery in June 2005 this long overdue and much requested book there has not been a substantial Sutherland show in London since 1982 comprises eighty oils and works on paper drawn from public and private collections throughout the UK and offers a selective interpretation of his painting rather than the usual career retrospective The exhibition opens at Dulwich Picture Gallery on 16th June to 25th September 2005 and will travel to the Djanogly Gallery in Nottingham in the autumn 904009490X Graham Sutherland Roberto Tassi, 1978 The 20th Century O-Z Frank N. Magill, 2013-05-13 Each volume of the Dictionary of World Biography contains 250 entries on the lives of the individuals who shaped their times and left their mark on world history This is not a who's who Instead each entry provides an in depth essay on the life and career of the individual concerned Essays commence with a quick reference section that provides basic facts on the individual's life and achievements The extended biography places the life and works of the individual within an historical context and the summary at the end of each essay provides a synopsis of the individual's place in history All entries conclude with a fully annotated bibliography
