Climate-Resilient Development

Astrid Carrapatoso, Edith Kürzinger, 2013-10-01 The concept of resilience currently infuses policy debates and public discourse and is promoted as a normative concept in climate policy making by governments non governmental organizations and think tanks This book critically discusses climate resilient development in the context of current deficiencies of multilateral climate management strategies and processes It analyses innovative climate policy options at national inter regional and local levels from a mainly Southern perspective thus contributing to the topical debate on alternative climate governance and resilient development models Case studies from Africa Asia and Latin America give a ground level view of how ideas from resilience could be used to inform and guide more radical development and particularly how these ideas might help to rethink the notion of progress in the light of environmental social economic and cultural changes at multiple scales from local to global It integrates theory and practice with the aim of providing practical solutions to improve complement or where necessary reasonably bypass the UNFCCC process through a bottom up approach which can effectively tap unused climate resilient development potentials at the local national and regional levels This innovative book gives students and researchers in environmental and development studies as well as policy makers and practitioners a valuable analysis of climate change mitigation and adaptation options in the absence of effective multilateral provisions

Effects of Implementing the Learning Together Method on EFL

Wondwosen Tesfamichael, 2019-06-28 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2016 in the subject Pedagogy School Pedagogics course TEFL language English abstract The target of this research was to examine whether or not the effects of implementing the learning together method improved eleventh graders paragraph writing skills in terms of content vocabulary layout grammar and mechanics The research also examined the extent to which the implementation of the learning together method brought about changes on social skills in relation to communication leadership group management and conflict resolution skills The quasiexperimental research was employed and the sample population was taken from two sections of eleventh grade The learning together method was implemented in the experimental group after the students had been made to have awareness about it whereas in the control group the students were taught their lessons through the same method in which the elements and theoretical perspectives of the method were not used Data were collected through tests questionnaire structured nonparticipant observation checklist focus group interview and semi structured interview Dependent t tests were employed to test whether or not there were significant intra group differences in paragraph writing and social skills at 0.05 risk levels whereas independent samples t tests were used to check if there were significant inter group differences in paragraph writing tests and social skills questionnaire at 0.05 alpha levels. The analyses of paragraph writing pre test and social skills pre questionnaire of the inter groups showed that both groups had similar backgrounds in writing paragraphs and practicing social skills at the initial stage of this research. Nevertheless after the treatments had been given to the experimental research participants the analyses of the data indicated that the experimental group outscored significantly p

Becoming a Multicultural Educator William A. Howe, Penelope L. Lisi, 2014. Becoming a Multicultural Educator is a core textbook for use by pre service and in service PK-12 educators in courses on multicultural education diversity. The text addresses how teachers can incorporate the knowledge they gain about other cultures into their classroom practice. In meeting the need of training teachers better in how to work with a diverse population this text offers both solid theory and a very user friendly practice component that focuses on showing teachers how to apply that theory effectively in the classroom. The book begins by focusing on essential questions and theoretical concepts about multicultural education then leads readers through experiences to heighten their own cultural awareness knowledge base and skills set and concludes with demonstrating how teachers can apply the concepts in classroom and schoolwide settings.

Psychology in the Classroom Phillida Salmon, 1995. Phillida Salmon offers an alternative vision to the consumerist images of education which have prevailed in political thinking. Using the approach of personal construct psychology she shows how meaning is centrally important. This has profound implications for understanding how people learn and why they often fail to learn. In tracing the logic of this approach in education the author considers the position of teachers and the possibilities and constraints of their own learning. For pupils school learning is often unofficial and unintended. In this the culture of school institutions plays a major part. Differential pupil destinies are carried by special categorization. The meaning of such labels is examined in this study.
