Jean Michel Jarre - The Making of Water for Life Jean Michel Jarre,2007 Water for life Great Britain: Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs,2011-12-08 Water for Life describes a vision for future water management in which the water sector is resilient in which water companies are more efficient and customer focused and in which water is valued as the precious and finite resource it is It explains that we all have a part to play in the realisation of this vision and recognises that water is essential for economic growth and that we must protect the environment for future generations Plans outlined include improving the condition of our rivers by encouraging local organisations to improve water quality and make sure we are extracting water from our environment in the least harmful way announcing plans to reform the water industry and deregulate water markets to drive economic growth enables business and public sector customers to negotiate better services from suppliers and cut their costs removing barriers that have discouraged new entrants from competing in the water market asking water companies to consider where water trading and inter connecting pipelines could help ensure secure water supplies at a price customers can afford enabling water companies to introduce new social tariffs for people struggling to pay their bills and seeks to tackle bad debt which ordinary householders have to bear the cost of to the tune of 15 per year and tackling the historic unfairness of water infrastructure in the South West These changes are all designed to lead to a more robust and prepared water industry which promotes innovation and growth in the economy at the same time as we protect the environment
