Wind Cannot Read:

The Wind Cannot Read Richard Mason, 2017-07-13 Winner of the 1948 John Llewellyn Rhys Prize A poignant novel of forbidden love The Wind Cannot Read is the story of Michael Quinn an English airman who falls in love with Sabby his Japanese teacher in India during the Second World War Enemies in the eyes of his friends and fellow soldiers they must keep their romance a secret in the face of great danger And tragedy awaits them both when Quinn is sent behind enemy lines in Burma Cinematic in both its scope and depth of feeling The Wind Cannot Read was made into a film starring Dirk Bogarde and Yoko Tani in 1958 Richard Mason's descriptive powers are at their zenith in this touching wartime romance which is a must read for anyone who loved his timeless bestseller The World of Suzie Wong The Wind Cannot Read Richard Mason, 1972 The wind cannot read Richard Mason, 1960 The Wind Cannot Read Richard Lakin Mason, 1948

Ellen's Story Ellen Szita, 2016-02-04 Ellen's Story is a testament of my persistent struggle for literacy the crippling defeat I suffered in my adult life due to this problem and the ultimate steps I needed to take toward triumph My story begins in England as World War II breaks out As a victim of the times and of a society unaware of learning disabilities I fell further and further behind in a system focused only on achievers At the age of eighteen contemplating a dim future as an ill educated factory worker and bearing thoughts of suicide I immigrated to Canada But dreams of a new life of marriage children and friendships never came to be struggles with learning disabilities sabotaged every hope My marriage failed I sunk into a deep depression and I tried to raise four children on welfare Eventually after intensive therapy I was diagnosed with dyslexia and only grade 7 reading skills Through the incredible support from the Victoria READ Society a special school in BC I came to believe I could learn and learn I did However my triumphs came with more pain Literacy problems had devastated my life and my relationships and I felt an incredible fear knowing the lives I'd hurt But then I learned I was far from alone there were millions in Canada that were feeling the same shame and hopelessness that I was What was the true number of people particularly children suffering as a result of this issue The terrible effects of literacy and numeracy problems on human health wealth and happiness are unseen The victims face lifelong shame guilt and failure I hope my story will open eyes to the real destruction of this hidden epidemic and give courage to those willing to come forward and attend classes But more importantly since less than 5 percent of adults with learning difficulties seek help I hope my story will give courage and hope to others "The" Wind Cannot Read Richard Mason, 1947 The "Japanese" War Sadao Ōba, 1995 How British school pupils were recruited to learn in 18 months or less what was then considered to be the most difficult language in the world in order to become translators interpreters and interrogators for the allied effort in the Pacific War My Secret Diary Jacqueline Wilson, 2009-03-12 A wonderfully written and engaging teenage memoir read all about Jacqueline's problems with her family her first love her school life and her friends Read extracts from her real diaries and the stories she wrote as a teenager learn all about the music and books she loved her troubled school life and her parents difficult relationship Written in Jacqueline's usual and inimitable style this will be fascinating reading for her fans and for anyone who's interested in what life in the UK was like in the fifties and sixties British Cinema of the 1950s Sue Harper, Vincent Porter, 2003-09-11 In this definitive and long-awaited history of 1950s British cinema Sue Harper and Vincent Porter draw extensively on previously unknown archive material to chart the growing rejection of post-war deference by both film-makers and cinema audiences Competition from television and successive changes in government policy all forced the production industry to become more market-sensitive The films produced by Rank and Ealing many of which harked back to wartime structures of feeling were challenged by those backed by Anglo-Amalgamated and Hammer The latter knew how to address the rebellious feelings and growing sexual discontents of a new generation of consumers Even the British Board of Film Censors had to adopt a more liberal attitude The collapse of the studio system also meant that the screenwriters and the art directors had to cede creative control to a new generation of independent producers and film directors Harper and Porter explore the effects of these social-cultural-industrial and economic changes on 1950s British cinema David Lean Kevin Brownlow, 1996-08-15 The life and its biographer provide a landmark work on the cinema Emerging from a childhood of nearly Dickensian darkness David Lean found his great success as a director of the appropriately titled Great Expectations There followed his legendary black and white films of the 1940s and his four-film collaboration with Noel Coward Lean's 1955 film Summertime took him from England to the world of international moviemaking and the stunning series of spectacular color epics that would gain for his work twenty-seven Academy Awards and fifty-six Academy Award nominations All are classics including The Bridge on the River Kwai Lawrence of Arabia Doctor Zhivago and A Passage to India Kevin Brownlow a film editor in his own right and author of the seminal silent film trilogy initiated with The Parade's Gone By brings to Lean's biography an exhaustive knowledge of the art and the industry One learns about the making of movies as realized by a master but also of the highly personal costs of genius The troubled Quaker family from which Lean came influenced his relationship with his son his brother and his six wives Yet he showed in his work a deep understanding of humanity The vastness of this scholarly and entertaining enterprise is augmented by sixteen pages of scenes from Lean's color films thirty-two pages from his black and white movies and throughout the text a vast number of photographs from his life and location work WIND CANNOT READ.
