Senate Journal Wisconsin. Legislature. Senate,1995 The Making of a Physician Harry L. Graber M.D. F.A.C.C.,2016-06-29 Both genetic and environmental factors play important roles in one's life Genetics remains a fixed entity whereas environment is a variable Environmental experiences in life can have a positive or negative influence upon the genetic makeup of a given individual Decision making in the preschool environment is predominantly controlled by parents Eventually the individual being influenced by the many past environmental factors becomes the responsible choice maker as to which path in life he/she wishes to travel It is my belief that it is providential that one is given these experiences to aid in our decision making This concept was supported by five of the physicians who shared their stories chapter 10 All were greatly influenced by role models whom they encountered in their earlier life This influence factor is not a single event but a continuum This forms the basis of the concept that the making of a physician is not a one-time event but represents a continuum For some of us becoming a physician was understood as a calling The stories in this book were shared so that others may develop a greater appreciation of their own environmental experiences and consider them as influential factors in the decision making of their lives It is also my hope that this book might be of positive help to the young person considering the medical profession as his or her vocation
