Punch Henry Mayhew, Mark Lemon, Tom Taylor, Shirley Brooks, Francis Cowley Burnand, Owen Seaman, 1865 Eating Identities Wenying Xu, 2018-03-31 The French epicure and gastronome Brillat Savarin declared Tell me what you eat and I will tell you who you are Wenying Xu infuses this notion with cultural political energy by extending it to an ethnic group known for its cuisines Asian Americans She begins with the general argument that eating is a means of becoming not simply in the sense of nourishment but more importantly of what we choose to eat what we can afford to eat what we secretly crave but are ashamed to eat in front of others and how we eat Food as the most significant medium of traffic between the inside and outside of our bodies organizes signifies and legitimates our sense of self and distinguishes us from others who practice different foodways Narrowing her scope Xu reveals how cooking eating and food fashion Asian American identities in terms of race ethnicity gender class diaspora and sexuality She provides lucid and informed interpretations of seven Asian American writers John Okada Joy Kogawa Frank Chin Li Young Lee David Wong Louie Mei Ng and Monique Truong and places these identity issues in the fascinating spaces of food hunger consumption appetite desire and orality Asian American literature abounds in culinary metaphors and references but few scholars have made sense of them in a meaningful way Most literary critics perceive alimentary references as narrative strategies or part of the background Xu takes food as the central site of cultural and political struggles waged in the seemingly private domain of desire in the lives of Asian Americans Eating Identities is the first book to link food to a wide range of Asian American concerns such as race and sexuality Unlike most sociological studies which center on empirical analyses of the relationship between food and society it focuses on how food practices influence psychological and ontological formations and thus contributes significantly to the growing field of food studies For students of literature this tantalizing work offers an illuminating lesson on how to read the multivalent meanings of food and eating in literary texts The Eumenides of Aeschylus Aeschylus, 1901 Nicholas Van Hoogstraten Don Jordan, Mike Walsh, 2004 Nicholas van Hoogstraten is a super rich business man whose ruthless exploits have kept his name in the headlines for 30 years Most recently he was found guilty of the manslaughter of business associate Mohammed Sabir Raja who was stabbed five times and shot at point blank range by hitmen sent by Hoogstraten This was the culmination of a career of wreaking vengeance on anyone who dared get in his way In building a vast fortune he secretly linked up with one of the most frightening gangsters in Britain with a vicious regime in Africa and according to some collusions with the Mafia He employed thugs to bomb the home of a man who owed him money He sent a gang to terrorise an old people s home He was suspected of involvement in an arson attack which killed five party goers He threatened friends and rivals even judges with death This book reveals the real Van Hoogstraten his life his women his riches and what exactly has made one man so feared

Rape-Revenge Films Alexandra Heller-Nicholas, 2014-11-21 Often considered the lowest depth to which the cinema can plummet the rape revenge film has been dismissed as exploitative and sensational catering to a demented demographic Only on such rare occasions as Ingmar Bergman's The Virgin Spring, John Boorman's Deliverance and Quentin Tarantino's Death Proof has the rape revenge movie transcended what is commonly assumed to be its intrinsically exploitative nature and moved into the mainstream. This critical overview reassesses that viewpoint by exploring a variety of themes as well as the elements that this type of film has in common. The author discusses an array of films directed by noteworthy directors from several countries demonstrating that diverse and often contradictory treatments of sexual violence can exist simultaneously.

The Robusta Incident Jennifer Fales, 2015-01-09 Meet Howard Danishefsky. He's a smart-mouthed chemist working for his ex-lover-turned-tight-skirted-ball-busting-boss Melinda Carpenter in the shiny downtown office of an international coffee conglomerate known as the Robusta Corporation. He has a legendary astrophysicist father in the Consortium of Evil that he's never met, a dead Russian mother who still keeps in touch, and a brilliant young daughter he loves but rarely sees. More importantly, he also has an evil genius complex that is about to go through the roof. When Howard finds himself pushed past his tolerance limit once again by Carpenter's cutthroat machinations and the Robusta Corporation's mindless culture, he takes it as his cue to evil up seeking revenge so nefarious it's guaranteed to gain the attention of the Consortium. What better way to do it than by adding a little something extra to the new coffee he's been given carte blanche to develop and using the entire office as his own personal test group? He's convinced he has it all under control until his secret ingredient gains him the interest of a voodoo queen, an ancient professor, and a guy so far past his expiration date deodorant doesn't even stand a chance. Monday through Friday getting you down. Ever wonder how far you'd go for revenge on the worst boss or the most miserable job you've ever had? Ever wonder what would happen if you did? Then you, my friend, need to read The Robusta Incident and be careful what you wish for. Thirst for Vengeance J. D. Hardin, 1987 The Eumenides of Aeschylus, ed. by L.D. Barnett, Aeschylus, 1901 Train's Trust George Owen Baxter, 1925 A no-good thief takes on a job with a huge payout that he can't possibly resist. Steven Train is a thief who knows a thing or two about how to handle a firearm. One day he's approached by another crook named John Rainier to go on a manhunt. Train is wary at first but when Rainier tells him there's a huge payout, he decides to take on the job. Rainier works for Patrick Comstock, a rich rancher looking for an honest man to go on a dangerous mission in hopes of finding his long-lost friend. Comstock's friend disappeared after losing all his earnings in oil stock investments that went bad. However, as luck would have it, one of the oil stocks bounced back and is now worth 50,000. Comstock needs Train to find his long-lost friend and give him his earnings. Train takes on the job with the intent of stealing the cash and splitting it with the no-good Rainier, but a snooping detective investigating a number of older crimes Train committed could ruin their best-laid plans. And to top it off, Train has an odd change of heart and decides that if Comstock enlists his help, he will double-cross Rainier and will instead faithfully carry out his mission to find the missing person and return to him his money. The Train Dispatcher, 1928 Raider J. D. Hardin, 1987 Doc and Raider are the sharpshooting heroes of more than seventy top-selling Hardin westerns. Now Raider stars in a longer wilder adventure of his
