Technology And The Canadian Mind:

Technology and the Canadian Mind Arthur Kroker, 1985 Technology and the Canadian Mind Arthur Kroker, 1984 The Canadian discourse Technological dependency George Grant as the Nietzsche of the New World Technological humanism the processed World of Marshall McLuhan Technological realism Harold Innis empire of communications Image and Identity R. Bruce Elder, 2006-01-01 What do images of the body which recent poets and filmmakers have given us tell us about ourselves about the way we think and about the culture in which we live In his new book A Body of Vision R Bruce Elder situates contemporary poetic and cinematic body images in their cultural context Elder examines how recent artists have tried to recognize and to convey primordial forms of experiences He proposes the daring thesis that in their efforts to do so artists have resorted to gnostic models of consciousness He argues that the attempt to convey these primordial modes of awareness demands a different conception of artistic meaning from any of those that currently dominate contemporary critical discussion By reworking theories and speech in highly original ways Elder formulates this new conception The works of Brakhage Artaud Schneeman Cohen and others lie naked under Elder s razor sharp dissecting knife and he exposes the essence of their work cutting deeply into the themes and theses from which the works are derived His remarks on the gaps in contemporary critical practices will likely become the focus of much debate The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Cinema Janine Marchessault, Will Straw, 2019-03-20 The chapters in The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Cinema present a rich diverse overview of Canadian cinema Responding to the latest developments in Canadian film studies this volume takes into account the variety of artistic voices media technologies and places which have marked cinema in Canada throughout its history Drawing on a range of established and emerging scholars from a range of disciplines this volume will be useful to teachers scholars and to a general readership interested in cinema in Canada Moving beyond the director focused approach of much previous scholarship this book is concerned with communities institutions and audiences for Canadian cinema at both national and international levels The choice of subjects covered ranges from popular genre cinema to the most experimental of artistic interventions Canadian cinema is seen in its interaction with other forms of art making and media production in Canada and at the international level Particular attention has been paid to the work of Indigenous filmmakers members of diasporic communities and feminist and LGBTQ artists The result is a book attentive to the complex social and institutional contexts in which Canadian cinema is made and consumed Communication Technology Darin Barney, 2011-11-01 When the Internet began to emerge as a popular new mode of communication many political scientists and social commentators believed that it would revolutionize our democratic institutions Today voter turnout is at an historic low and Internet usage is at an all time high Can we still make the claim that new information and communication technologies ICTs enhance democratic life in Canada What effect does the technological mediation of political communication have on the practice of Canadian politics How have such technologies affected the distribution of power in society Darin Barney investigates the links between ICTs and democratic processes arguing that the potential of digital technologies to contribute to a more democratic political system will remain largely untapped unless the more conventional dimensions of Canadian politics the economy and modes of governance are reoriented

Popular Postcolonialisms Nadia Atia, Kate Houlden, 2018-07-04

Drawing together the insights of postcolonial scholarship and cultural studies Popular Postcolonialisms questions the place of the popular in the postcolonial paradigm Multidisciplinary in focus this collection explores the extent to which popular forms are infused with colonial logics and whether they can be employed by those advocating for change It considers a range of fiction film and non hegemonic cultural forms engaging with topics such as environmental change language activism and cultural imperialism alongside analysis of figures like Tarzan and Frankenstein Building on the work of cultural theorists it asks whether the popular is actually where elite conceptions of the world may best be challenged It also addresses middlebrow cultural production which has tended to be seen as antithetical to radical traditions asking whether this might in fact form an unlikely realm from which to question critique or challenge colonial tropes Examining the ways in which the imprint of colonial history is in evidence interrogated mythologized or sublimated within popular cultural production this book raises a series of speculative questions exploring the interrelation of the popular and the postcolonial

Science and Technology in Canada Paul Dufour, John De la Mothe, 1993

Reframing Technology Kent Hufford, 2024-07-22

For over a hundred years technological change has been framed using a simple narrative technology drives history Reframing Technology challenges this idea of technological determinism through metahistorical and literary analyses that locate the birth of contingent frameworks in the historiography of technology in and around the 1930s The book also traces how the formal discipline of the History of Technology was remarkably preconfigured by four North American authors who were not professional historians Thorstein Veblen Stuart Chase Lewis Mumford and Marshall McLuhan They are considered as a continuum and are put in dialogue despite their training in different disciplines Their work is then linked up with the emergence of formal and institutional inquiry into narratives of technology at the end of the twentieth century The ideas in the book are applied to current discussions about the future of technology and artificial intelligence The book s main argument is that as the authors listed above suggest we need to think beyond the machine and reframe technology as a cultural practice rather than thinking of it as an object or a tool
