the humanities today and the humanities tomorrow

It may no longer be necessary to argue that the academic humanities are facing a crisis—but our conversations about that crisis rarely progress beyond acknowledging it. How can, and how should, the humanities meet the challenges facing academic labor, institutions, and ideas?

In this lecture, James F. English (the University of Pennsylvania) will offer both scholarly and institutional perspectives on the humanist present and what scholars, departments, and institutions dedicated to the humanities can do to secure a humanist future.

The Humanities Today:

The Humanities Today Albert William Levi, 1970 Five lectures delivered at the University of Notre Dame in June 1968 Includes bibliographical references

Why the Humanities Matter Today Lee Trepanier, 2017-03-08 The humanities in American higher education is in a state of crisis with declining student enrollment fewer faculty positions and diminishing public prestige Instead of recycling old arguments that have lost their appeal the humanities must discover and articulate new rationales for their value to students faculty administrators and the public Why the Humanities Matter Today In Defense of Liberal Education is an attempt to do so by having philosophers literature and foreign language professors historians and political theorists defend the value and explain the worth of their respective disciplines as well as illuminate the importance of liberal education By setting forth new arguments about the significance of their disciplines these scholars show how the humanities can reclaim its place of prominence in American higher education

A New Deal for the Humanities Gordon Hutner, Feisal Gharib Mohamed, 2016 A New Deal for the Humanities brings together twelve prominent scholars who shed light on the many concerns swirling around the humanities today exploring the history of the liberal arts in America their present state and their future direction The volume focuses on public higher education for it is in our state schools that the liberal arts are taught to the greatest numbers where the decline of those fields would be most damaging and where their strength is most threatened

Why the Humanities Matter Today Lee Trepanier, 2017-03-08 The humanities in American higher education is in a state of crisis with declining student enrollment fewer faculty positions and diminishing public prestige Instead of recycling old arguments that have lost their appeal the humanities must discover and articulate new rationales for their value to students faculty administrators and the public Why the Humanities Matter Today In Defense of Liberal Education is an attempt to do so by having philosophers literature and foreign language professors historians and political theorists defend the value and explain the worth of their respective disciplines as well as illuminate the importance of liberal education By setting forth new arguments about the significance of their disciplines these scholars show how the humanities can reclaim its place of prominence in American higher education

Rethinking the Humanities Ricardo Gil Soeiro, Sofia Tavares, 2011-11-15 In what we consider to be a timely collection of essays the volume Rethinking the Humanities Paths and Challenges tries to reflect upon the present condition of the humanities and their manifold challenges acutely dramatized in an era of increasing contingency and globalization By drawing upon a wide variety of perspectives and areas of research from literary studies to philosophy from cultural criticism to the history of ideas we hope to surpass the now dominant rhetoric of crisis as it features for example in George Steiner's essay Humanities At Twilight not only by devising new horizons for a humanistic literary culture C ndido de Oliveira Martins and envisioning literary studies in a Post literary age David Damrosch but also by advocating an ethical turn for the humanities Peter Levine and Jos Pedro Serra seen as an education toward autonomy Richard Wolin as well as by reconsidering the very notion of crisis within the humanities

Marjorie Perloff and Antonio Sousa Ribeiro By doing so and whilst it does not claim to offer definitive answers the volume nevertheless strives to open up new fields of debate and innovative perspectives The editors The ^ABattle of the Classics Eric Adler,2020-09-04 This book analyzes crucial episodes in the history of American higher education in order to discover the best way to rescue the humanities It urges apologists to stop focusing on the humanistic disciplines as inculcators of poorly defined skills and envisions a globalized approach to education based on humanistic masterworks Edinburgh Companion to the New European Humanities Daan F. Oostveen,Marjan Ivkovic,Hiltraud Casper-Hehne,Rosi Braidotti,2024-02-06 This is the first collection that highlights the strengths and contributions of the Humanities in the European region The volume stresses the positive and multidimensional impact of the Humanities on core areas of human experience and their ability to formulate new frames to represent our collective and individual relation to the world Further it explores new ethical social imaginaries gendered scenarios and spaces of decolonial transculturality This collection also confronts the threats the Humanities face today and proposes ways to respond These threats include public discourses that question the value of the Humanities the chronic underfunding of teaching and research at our universities and institutions and the more fundamental risks to intellectual freedom democracy and critical discourse diversity and the radical imagination posed by political and market forces and organisations Overall this volume proposes innovative tools to increase our collective awareness of forms of injustice exclusion and the suffering of both the human and the non human inhabitants of this planet It discusses the posthuman future of the Humanities and makes recommendations for the implementation of innovative approaches to the Humanities Defining the Humanities Robert E. Proctor,1998-12-22 Think of this as The Thinking Man s Bloom or The Thinking Woman s Closing of the American Mind It takes up debates about education and reasons about them where Bloom often only blasted away This is one of the more helpful recent statements of the case for the classics accompanied by rather venturesome curricular suggestions Christian Century His exciting readable book calls for a return to a study of the classics and of the Renaissance poets and scholars like Petrarch who rediscovered the classics Michael Dirda Washington Post Book World a splendid statement bringing together in a careful and coherent way the prospects for a solid humanities curriculum Ernest L Boyer Ten years ago when this book was first published it was called Education s Great Amnesia Reconsidering the Humanities from Petrarch to Freud It is being reissued now in a second edition with a different title for a new generation of readers who cannot have forgotten what they never knew What are the humanities Can we agree on a core curriculum of humanistic studies Robert Proctor answers these questions in a provocative readable book The Harvard Monthly ,1911 Positive Pedagogy across the Primary Curriculum Jonathan Barnes,2023-04-28 This book offers a positive approach to thematic cross curricular teaching Within a clear focus on humanitarian and inclusive values it offers guidance on robust learning in the subject disciplines within a set of highly involving themes Its fundamental aim is the mental physical social and intellectual wellbeing of children and their teachers

Discover how your teaching can support genuine age appropriate engagement in contemporary and global issues like shared values anti racism social inequalities and environmental concerns Learn ways of drawing from a wider inclusive and motivating curriculum without compromising progression in subject specific learning Case studies and clear guidance on planning and assessment offer strong practical advice to support you in setting the foundations for smart informed and relevant primary school teaching Jonathan Barnes is a Visiting Senior Research Fellow at Canterbury Christ Church University and a National Teaching Fellow The Humanities Today Robert Maynard Hutchins, Mortimer Jerome Adler, 1977
