Station Facts

The Shiloh Road Station is the eastern terminus of the Silver Line Regional Rail and sits in Plano's industrial business district. All the vehicles will be housed, cleaned and maintained at the Silver Line Equipment Maintenance Facility located near the end of the line.

The Shiloh Road Station is one of the most eye-catching Silver Line stations and includes pop art that has incorporated the industrial aesthetic into its design, and highlights a large electrical plug structure that appears to run from a nearby substation. The station will have more than 600 parking spaces and serve as the starting point of the Cotton Belt Regional Trail.

Mancini is an attractive rebel who's never really been anything but a con man. But something miraculous is about to find him. Love fleeing the scene of a crime he's unaware the fate of many will depend on him. The town of Clearview becomes a sanctuary for the righteous and a resting place for those in need. Nestled at the base of the majestic Sierra Nevada Mountains the small town finds itself in the middle of anarchy, war, and turmoil struggling to survive. His family gone, Shiloh Evans has been taking it one day at a time. Working on a mysterious project he must face his personal demons and find the strength to lead the town to safety. Betrayed by their government, Michael Mason and Cleo Brown, covert agents for the CIA, are in possession of top secret encrypted documents. The information they possess might be the key to saving the world. As the future unfolds, there are things foretold which will come to pass. It isn't a matter of if but a matter of when.

The Lead Mine Men Thomas B. Mack, 2024-09-18 WINNER Certificate of Excellence in Scholarly Publications from the Illinois State Historical Society's 2025 Best of Illinois History Awards. The regiment that never ran to destroy Confederate infrastructure, avenge the horrors of slavery, and shorten the war, the 45th Illinois Volunteer Infantry imposed the pillaging of hard war philosophy upon Confederate lands. This comprehensive and engaging narrative explores the Civil War ordeals and triumphs of the Lead Mine men who hailed from eleven counties in northern Illinois. Thomas B. Mack uncovers the history of this unit of resilient midwesterners and how they brought hard war to the Confederacy in 1862, earlier than other historians have previously suggested. During their service, the regiment compiled an exceptional record. The 45th fought under General Ulysses S. Grant in the war's western theater, earning honors at Vicksburg and in Tennessee. The men later reenlisted as veterans and served in General William T. Sherman's Atlanta, Savannah, and Carolina campaigns. Mack considers the soldiers' community discipline and faith in Providence during their service in the Union Army of the Tennessee and how, despite the unit's high casualties, they upheld the lowest rate of desertion due to their fervent patriotism. Throughout The Lead Mine Men, Mack's focus remains on the soldiers, their extensive training in Galena and Chicago, and their time in camp and in combat. He follows their experiences from recruitment to their celebratory march in the 1865 Grand Review to their postwar lives, in which many struggled to adjust, receive their government pensions, and protect the unit's legacy. In this book, Mack broadens our understanding of the Union soldiers who saved their republic and ended slavery within its borders.
