Marian Holland McAllister

The Round Tower:

The Round Tower Catherine Cookson, 2008 Vanessa Ratcliffe is just sixteen daughter of one of the town's richest men. And in spite of her social standing and convent education Vanessa's provocative manner often draws envious eyes in her direction. Angus Cotton is a rough diamond living in filthy Ryder's Row but as engineer at Affleck and Tate he's worth his weight in gold. Angus has ambitious plans for his future plans that had never included Vanessa until now. The Round Tower is a beautifully imagined story of power, love, honour and greed and an award-winning novel from one of Britain's most popular novelists.

The round tower and its relation to architecture of the 16th century Johann-Christian Klamt, The round tower, Catherine Cookson Catherine Cookson, The Round Tower, by Catherine Cookson (9 Cassettes). Catherine Cookson, Gordon* Griffin, The Round Tower, 1809 St George's Chapel, Windsor, in the Fourteenth Century Nigel Saul, 2005 A definitive look at the early history of St George's Chapel, one of the most important medieval buildings in England. Developed and improved by Edward III, the Chapel became the spiritual home of his newly instigated Order of the Garter and in the process a new Camelot for the English monarchy. St George's Chapel, Windsor, is one of the most famous ecclesiastical foundations in Britain. Established in 1348, its origins are closely bound up with those of the Order of the Garter, which was founded by Edward III at the same time. The collection of essays in this volume sets Windsor in its context at the forefront of the political and cultural developments of mid-fourteenth century England. They examine the early history of the Chapel, its ties with Edward III's chivalric ambitions, the community of canons who served it, and its place in the institutional development of the English Church. Major themes are the role of the Chapel in the early history of the Order and its influence on other collegiate foundations of the late middle ages, and much attention is devoted to the mighty building campaign at the Castle started by Edward III which made Windsor the grandest royal residence of its day.

From Ireland Coming Colum Hourihane, 2001 Lying at Europe's remote western edge, Ireland long has been seen as having an artistic heritage that owes little to influences beyond its borders. This publication, the first to focus on Irish art from the eighth century AD to the end of the sixteenth century, challenges the idea that the best-known Irish monuments of that period—the high crosses, the Book of Kells, the Tara Brooch, the round towers—reflect isolated, insular traditions. Seventeen essays examine the iconography, history, and structure of these familiar works, as well as a number of previously unpublished pieces, and demonstrate that they do have a place in the main currents of European art. While this book reveals unexpected links between Ireland, Late Antique Italy, the Byzantine Empire, and the Anglo-Saxons, its center is always the artistic culture of Ireland itself. It includes new research on the Sheela-na-gigs, often thought to be merely erotic sculptures, on the larger cultural meanings of the Tuam Market Cross, and its nineteenth-century re-erection, and on late medieval Irish stone crosses and metalwork. The emphasis on later monuments makes this one of the first volumes to deal with Irish art after the Norman invasion. The contributors are Cormac Bourke, Mildred Budny, Tessa Garton, Peter Harbison, Jane Hawkes, Colum Hourihane, Catherine E. Karkov, Heather
