

Incomplete Information Games: Examples

Instructor: Ankush Garg, JSGP

1. Prisoners' Dilemma with a 'nice' person

- a. Two players, P1 and P2
- b. Let's denote the type of P1 as t_1 and type of P2 as t_2
- c. P1 is a regular (R) type i.e., $t_1 \in \{R\}$ while player 2 could be either regular (R) type or nice (N) type i.e., $t_2 \in \{R, N\}$
- d. The following payoff matrices represent the preferences of each player and each type

		P2
		C	D
P1	C	5, 5	0, 10
	D	10, 0	2, 2

Game RR (p)

		P2
		C	D
P1	C	5, 10	0, 0
	D	10, 5	2, 2

Game RN (1-p)

- e. Notice that when both players are regular type (Game RR), they play usual Prisoners' Dilemma game.
- f. When a regular type is paired against a nice type (Game RN), it is no longer the Prisoners' Dilemma game – a nice type prefers to cooperate than defect.
- g. We assume that P2 knows its own type, i.e., knows when they are playing RR game and when they are playing RN game.
- h. However, P1 does not know whether it is paired against regular type or nice player of P2. In other words, P1 does not know whether they are playing RR game or RN game
- i. In the absence of complete knowledge, P1 has belief that with probability p it is paired against regular type of P2 and with probability (1-p) against nice type of P2
- j. This belief of P1 is assumed to be common knowledge – not only P1 has these beliefs, P2 knows that P1 has these beliefs, P1 knows that P2 knows that P1 has these beliefs, P2 knows that P1 knows that P2 knows that P1 has these beliefs and so on.
- k. We denote the strategy (s_i) of each player as
 For P1: $s_1 \in S_1 = \{C, D\}$
 For P2: $s_2 \in S_2 = \{C(R), C(N); C(R), D(N); D(R), C(N); D(R), D(N)\}$
- l. Notice that we have written strategy of player 2 as 'type dependent strategy' – For eg, a strategy $C(R), D(N)$ means that P2 will play C when it is R type (in RR game) and will play D when it is N type (in RN game).
- m. Type dependent strategy is the standard way of writing strategies in incomplete information games

Cambridge University has and continues to be one of the most important centres for economics With nine chapters on themes in Cambridge economics and over 40 chapters on the lives and work of Cambridge economists this volume shows how economics became established at the university how it produced some of the world s best known economists including John Maynard Keynes and Alfred Marshall plus Nobel Prize winners such as Richard Stone and James Mirrlees and how it remains a global force for the very best in teaching and research in economics With original contributions from a stellar cast this volume provides economists especially those interested in macroeconomics and the history of economic thought with the first in depth analysis of Cambridge economics Economics Selections ,1972 Toward a Theory of Economic Development Paul Zarembka,1972 Economics Selections: An International Bibliography ,1972 The National union catalog, 1968-1972 ,1973 Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal ,1969 General Competitive Analysis Kenneth Joseph Arrow, Frank Hahn,1971 The National Union Catalogs, 1963- ,1964 Dynamic programming Douglas John White,1969 Distributed Lags Phoebus J. Dhrymes,1971 Information and Efficiency in Economic Decision Jati Sengupta,2012-12-06 Use of information is basic to economic theory in two ways As a basis for optimization it is central to all normative hypotheses used in economics but in decision making situations it has stochastic and evolutionary aspects that are more dynamic and hence more fundamental This book provides an illustrative survey of the use of information in economics and other decision sciences Since this area is one of the most active fields of research in modern times it is not possible to be definitive on all aspects of the issues involved However questions that appear to be most important in this author s view are emphasized in many cases without drawing any definite conclusions It is hoped that these questions would provoke new interest for those beginning researchers in the field who are currently most active Various classifications of information structures and their relevance for optimal decision making in a stochastic environment are analyzed in some detail Specifically the following areas are illustrated in its analytic aspects 1 Stochastic optimization in linear economic models 2 Stochastic models in dynamic economics with problems of time inconsistency causality and estimation 3 Optimal output inventory decisions in stochastic markets 4 Minimax policies in portfolio theory 5 Methods of stochastic control and differential games and 6 Adaptive information structures in decision models in economics and the theory of economic policy
