The Deconstruction of Dualism in Theology Gillian McCulloch,2002 Between Horror and Hope is a study of Paul s metaphorical language of death in Romans 6 1 11 The scholarly debate focuses on two main issues the origin of the commentatio mortis tradition and its development Dr Sabou argues that the origin of this terminology is original to Paul that it was the apostle s own insight into the meaning of Christ s death a death to sin and his understanding of the identity of Christ in his death as the anointed davidic king which guided him to create this metaphor of dying to sin as a way of describing the relationship of the believer with sin On the development of this language of death the author argues that this language conveys two aspects horror and hope The first is discussed in the context of crucifixion in which Paul explains the believer s death to sin by presenting Christ s death as the death of the anointed davidic king who won the victory over sin and death by rising from the dead Paul affirms that believers are coalesced with what was proclaimed about Christ s death and resurrection thereby allowing him to assert that the releasing of the body from the power of sin is a result of crucifixion This crucifixion is the condemnation inflicted on our past lives in the age inaugurated by Adam's sin and this is such a horrible event that believers have to stay away from sin since sin leads to such punishment. In contrast, hope is presented in the context of burial. The believer's burial with Christ points to the fact that they are part of Christ's family and this is accomplished by the overwhelming action of God by which he pushes us toward the event of Christ's death, an act pictured in baptism. It is this burial with Christ that allows believers to share with Christ in newness of life.
