Universal Grammar and the Second Language Classroom Melinda Whong, Kook-Hee Gil, Heather Marsden, 2013-06-26

This book proposes that research into generative second language acquisition GenSLA can be applied to the language classroom. Assuming that Universal Grammar plays a role in second language development, it explores generalisations from GenSLA research. The book aims to build bridges between the fields of generative second language acquisition, applied linguistics, and language teaching, and it shows how GenSLA is poised to engage with researchers of second language learning outside the generative paradigm. Each chapter of Universal Grammar and the Second Language Classroom showcases ways in which GenSLA research can inform language pedagogy. Some chapters include classroom research that tests the effectiveness of teaching particular linguistic phenomena. Others review existing research findings, discussing how these findings are useful for language pedagogy. All chapters show how generative linguistics can enhance teachers' expertise in language and second language development. This groundbreaking volume ably takes on the gap that currently exists between generative linguistic theory in second language acquisition GenSLA and second language pedagogy by gathering chapters from GenSLA researchers who are interested in the relevance and potential application of their research to second foreign language teaching. It offers a welcome and thought-provoking contribution to any discussion of the relation between linguistic theory and practice. I recommend it not only for language teachers interested in deepening their understanding of the formal properties of the languages they teach but also for linguists interested in following up on more practical consequences of the fruits of their theoretical and empirical research. Donna Lardiere, Georgetown University, Washington DC, USA.

Universal Grammar and Parameter Resetting in Second Language Acquisition Martin Kaltenbacher, 2001
Diese Arbeit wurde mit dem Förderpreis der Landeshauptstadt Salzburg zur Förderung von Kunst, Wissenschaft und Literatur ausgezeichnet. The book addresses the issue of Universal Grammar (UG) and parameter resetting in Second Language (L2) acquisition. The central questions are: what is the initial state of a learner's L2 grammar, and does UG play a role in L2 acquisition? Several hypotheses are evaluated and set in relation to four parameters that are suggested to play a central role in UG and language acquisition. Particular focus is put on parametric differences between English and German. For this purpose, Austrian learners have been tested on null subjects and adverbial and verb placement. It is shown that the learners transfer the L1 parameter settings into their early English interlanguage grammars. They are then involved in a disrupted process of parameter resetting, which is not guided by UG but proceeds via cognitive processes and learning strategies.

Contents: Universal grammar in language acquisition; The pro-drop parameter; Parameterisation of adverbial and adverb placement; The head parameter; A case study with Austrian learners of L2 English.

The Research Topic aims to highlight research on the processing of words, sentences, and discourses.

across languages Articles representing processing in a wide variety of human languages will be featured Efforts will be made to have articles representing as many language families as possible The methodology used to investigate language processing is open Manuscripts may report studies involving monolinguals or individuals knowing more than one language Research addressing the extent to which all human languages are processed similarly are welcomed as are studies investigating the extent to which the different types of linguistic knowledge are stored differently in memory Universal Dictionary of the English Language Robert Hunter,1899 Universal Dictionary of the English Language ,1898

Learning foreign languages: experiences of persons with disabilities and special educational needs and their teachers Ewa Domagala-Zysk,Jitka Sedláčková,Katarzyna Karpińska-Szaj,2025-09-22 In many parts of the world it is not a person s native language but a foreign one which is used for education work or entertainment This is true for many European countries whose inhabitants need to learn English as a foreign language if they want to participate in education or among diverse fields in the workforce In other parts of the world it might be Spanish Hindi Mandarin Chinese Arabic or other languages which will be serving a similar role This need for learning a second language is understood well in many educational programs including those for students with special educational needs However to date there is not much research of the experiences of persons with diverse additional needs as learners of foreign languages The most robust literature covers the field of additional language acquisition among Deaf and Hard of Hearing DHH people cf Domaga a Zy k Podlewska Moritz 2021 and others Goals methods and forms of teaching are fairly well described and DHH students needs have been documented extensively The Grammar of Multilingualism Artemis Alexiadou,Terje Lohndal,2016-10-31 This volume investigates the nature of grammatical representations in speakers who master multiple languages Since the early days of modern formal approaches to grammar most work has been based on the language of monolingual humans Less work has been conducted based on data from speakers who possess more than one language Although important insights have been gained from a monolingual focus there is every reason to believe that bi and multilingual data can inform linguistic theory A lot of ongoing work demonstrates that this is indeed the case and the current volume contributes to this growing literature Thus the research topic addresses a number of questions relating to grammatical structures in multilingual speakers as well as the methodological issues that arise in the context of studying such speakers A better understanding of the grammatical sides of multilingualism is crucial for understanding the human language capacity and in turn for offering better advice to the public concerning issues of language choice for multilingual children and adults education and language deficits in multilingual individuals Native Language and Foreign Language Acquisition Harris Winitz,1981 L2 Phonology Meets L2 Pronunciation John Archibald,Mary Grantham O'Brien,Andrew Sewell,2022-01-24 Linguistic Theory and Adult Second Language Acquisition Carolina Plaza Pust,2000 General considerations as regards the human language faculty come into play when analysing adult second language acquisition Grammar as conceived in the Principles and

Parameters theory is a modularly organised system which relies on both the autonomy and the inter relation of its subcomponents One such inter relation lies at the heart of this study namely the relation between the lexicon and the syntax Following current assumptions it is expected that the acquisition of functional categories plays a crucial role in grammar development However it is a matter of debate whether language acquisition in adulthood relies on the same learning mechanisms as in childhood The critical evaluation of this controversy leads to the conclusion that traditional learning concepts need to be revised in more dynamic terms The dynamic approach proposed is applied in the investigation of the intra individual variation in adult L2 German

Teaching and Learning Chinese as a Foreign or Second Language: The Educational Psychology Perspective Yang Frank Gong, Chun Lai, Jinghe Han, Chan Lu, Sihui Echo Ke, 2024-02-21 Over the past two decades Chinese as a foreign or second language CFL CSL has been increasingly taught and learnt as an important language both within and outside China Studies in the field have attempted to address deep seated tensions between existing educational ideologies concepts strategies and approaches and student learning process and performance and between existent teaching methods and techniques and the globalization of Chinese language education
