Unquiet Landscape:

Unquiet Landscape Christopher Neve, 2020-07-09 Christopher Neve's classic book is a journey into the imagination through the English landscape. How is it that artists by thinking in paint have come to regard the landscape as representing states of mind? Painting says Neve is a process of finding out and landscape can be its thesis. What he is writing is not precisely art history; it is about pictures about landscape and about thought. Over the years he was able to have discussions with many of the thirty or so artists he focuses on; the inspiration for the book having come from his talks with Ben Nicholson and he has immersed himself in their work, their countryside, their ideas. Because he is a painter himself and an expert on 20th century art, Neve is well equipped for such a journey. Few writers have conveyed more vividly the mixture of motives, emotions, unconscious forces and contradictions which culminate in the creative act of painting. Each of the thirteen chapters has a theme and explores its significance for one or more of the artists. The problem of time, for instance, is considered in relation to Paul Nash, God in relation to David Jones, music to Ivon Hitchens, hysteria to Edward Burra, abstraction to Ben Nicholson, the spirit in the mass to David Bomberg. There are also chapters about painters' ideas on specific types of country, about Eric Ravilious and the chalk landscape, Joan Eardley and the sea, and Cedric Morris and the garden. Words Are Eagles Gregory Day, 2022-07-05 A collection of beautiful and moving essays on the wonder of the natural world and the cultural complexities of writing landscape in Australia. Words are Eagles collects in one place the essays of award-winning novelist and nature writer Gregory Day. Grounded in the landscape of southwestern Victoria and infused with the heightened sense of place and environmental literacy that have long been key to Day's work, these essays traverse landscape language and histories. Day's attention is tuned both to the beauty of the natural world, returning often to the motifs of ground and sky, ocean and owl, moth and river, and the history of place, whether lost, buried, or personal. In a part a reading and celebration of the resurgent global nature writing movement to which Day was an early contributor, this collection highlights the need for ecological care and the value of Indigenous knowledge and practices. This is the kind of nature writing that gets to the heart of our urgent need for a more harmonious and regenerative relationship with the earth that sustains us.
