English Actually it came from two different book covers written at different times by Jean Baudrillard The first part of Simulations and most provocative because it made a fiction of theory was The Procession of Simulacra It had first been published in Simulacre et Simulations 1981 The second part written much earlier and in a more academic mode came from L'Echange Symbolique et la Mort 1977 It was a half earnest half parodical attempt to historicize his own conceit by providing it with some kind of genealogy of the three orders of appearance the Counterfeit attached to the classical period Production for the industrial era and Simulation controlled by the code It was Baudrillard's version of Foucault's Order of Things and his ironical commentary of the history of truth The book opens on a quote from Ecclesiastes asserting flatly that the simulacrum is true It was certainly true in Baudrillard's book but otherwise apocryphal One of the most influential essays of the 20th century Simulations was put together in 1983 in order to be published as the first little black book of Semiotext(e)'s new Foreign Agents Series Baudrillard's bewildering thesis a bold extrapolation on Ferdinand de Saussure's general theory of general linguistics was in fact a clinical vision of contemporary consumer societies where signs don't refer anymore to anything except themselves They all are generated by the matrix In effect Baudrillard's essay it quickly became a must to read both in the art world and in academe was upholding the only reality there was in a world that keeps hiding the fact that it has none Simulacrum is its own pure simulacrum and the simulacrum is true In his celebrated analysis of Disneyland Baudrillard demonstrates that its childish imaginary is neither true nor false it is there to make us believe that the rest of America is real when in fact America is a Disneyland It is of the order of the hyper real and of simulation Few people at the time realized that Baudrillard's simulacrum itself wasn't a thing but a deterrence machine just like Disneyland meant to reveal the fact that the real is no longer real and illusion no longer possible But the more impossible the illusion of reality becomes the more impossible it is to separate true from false and the real from its artificial resurrection the more panic stricken the production of the real is

Screened Out Jean Baudrillard, 2002 Watching the president's Christmas message produces this necropolar white mass sensation Seeing the video broadcast of the Christmas service in the cathedral itself with these pathetic screens and the young worshippers slumped around them here and there you tell yourself that God and religion deserved better Deserved to die yes but not this However watching the presidential figure and his sonorous inanity you tell yourself that here at least you got what you deserved Chirac is useless that goes without saying but so are we all Uselessness of this kind has no origin it exists immediately reciprocally like a shared secret you savour it implicitly with its warm bitterness particularly in these cold snaps as the very essence of the social bond Sanctioned by that other interactive uselessness the uselessness of the screen World renowned for his lively and often iconoclastic reading of contemporary culture and thought Jean Baudrillard here turns his hand to topical political debates and issues In this stimulating collection of journalistic essays Baudrillard addresses subjects ranging from those already established as his trademark virtual reality Disney television to more unusual topics such as the Western intervention in Bosnia children's rights Holocaust revisionism AIDS the Rushdie fatwa Formula One racing mad cow disease genetic cloning and the uselessness of Chirac These are coruscating and intriguing articles not least because they show that Baudrillard is pace his critics still susceptible and alert to influences from social movements and the world beyond the hyperreal
