

1. Sociology and the Real World

Sociology– the systematic or scientific study of human society and social behavior, from large-scale institutions and mass culture to small groups and individual interactions

- Howard Becker (1966)– “the study of people doing things together, because neither the individual nor society exist independently of one another.”

Beginner’s mind– approaching the world without preconceptions in order to see things in a new way

- We clear our minds of stereotypes, expectation, and opinions so that we can be more receptive to our experiences.

Culture shock– happened when you experience a sense of disorientation upon entering a new social or cultural environment

Level of Analysis

- Microsociology – examines small-group interactions to see how they impact large institutions of society
- Macrosociology– examines large-scale social structures to determine how they impact groups and individuals

Personal Troubles– refer to a problem affecting individuals that the affected individual, as well as other members of society, typically blame on the individual’s own personal and moral failings.

- Personal troubles can become public issues

Public Issues– whose sources lies in the social structure and culture of a society, refer to social problems affecting many individuals. Problems in society thus help account for problems that individual experience

- Blaming one versus blaming the system

Theories of Sociology

1. Structural Functionalism (macro)

- Society is conceived as a stable, ordered system, made up of interrelated parts, or structures
- Each structure has a function that contributes to the continued stability or equilibrium of the whole

Structures are social institutions such as: family, education system, politics, the economy, religion
