The Inhuman:

Henry Miller: The Inhuman Artist Indrek Männiste, 2013-06-20 Against skeptics Männiste argues that Miller does indeed have a philosophy of his own which underpins most of his texts It is demonstrated that this philosophy as a metaphysical sense of life forms a system the understanding of which is necessary to adequately explain even some of the most basic of Miller's ideas Building upon his notion of the inhuman artist Miller's philosophical foundation is revealed through his literary attacks against the metaphysical design of the modern age It is argued that by repudiating some of the most potent elements of late modernity such as history modern technology and an aesthetized view of art Miller paves the way for overcoming Western metaphysics Finally it is shown that philosophically this aim is governed by Miller's idiosyncratic concept of art in which one is led towards self liberation through transcending the modern society and its dehumanizing pursuits Liotard

and the Inhuman Condition Ashley Woodward, 2016-03-07 Ashley Woodward demonstrates what a new generation of scholars are just discovering that Lyotard's incisive work is essential for current debates in the humanities Lyotard's ideas about the arts and the confrontations between humanist traditions and cutting edge sciences and technologies are today known as posthumanism Woodward presents a series of studies to explain Lyotard's specific interventions in information theory new media arts and the changing nature of the human He assesses their relevance and impact in relation to a number of important contemporary thinkers including Bernard Stiegler Luciano Floridi Quentin Meillassoux and Paul Virilio

Posthuman Suffering and the Technological Embrace Anthony Miccoli, 2009-01-15 Posthumanism portrays technology as an other to be embraced and consequently has lost sight of the basic realities of human technological boundary Technology becomes a superior model of information processing to which humans aspire Posthuman Suffering contends that we do not embrace technology to expand and augment our selves we embrace technology so that it may embrace us Finally and most importantly the posthuman view reconceptualizes the human being to be made more compatible with computerized systems or possible artificial intelligences In the age of technology our own limitations are legitimized as unique to the human condition Through those limitations we can distinguish ourselves from our machines making us superior to them via our own imperfection Posthumanist discourse from scholars such as N Katherine Hayles Donna Haraway and others often fails to address the underlying meaning behind our technological aspirations and actually perpetuates the belief that properly embracing technology allows us to overcome the very need to technology itself if we possess the right apparatus to take in the world and the code which instantiates it then the world will give us everything it has to offer In so doing we sacrifice the objective of experiencing the world for the object through which it should be experienced By revealing the theoretical and historical foundations of posthumanism through the work of Elaine Scarry Freud Heidegger and Lyotard and tracing narrative representations of failed posthuman ontologies in Thomas Pynchon's The Crying of Lot 49 Don DeLillo's White Noise and Steven Spielberg's film AI Artificial Intelligence Posthuman Suffering and the Technological Embrace re frames
