International Society for Theoretical Psychology. Conference, 1993 I was asked and alas with little reflection on the magnitude of the task thoughtlessly consented to take on the simple job of writing a preface to the collection of essays comprising this volume That I was asked to carry out this simple task was probably due to one consideration I was the main representative of the host institution Clark University for the 1991 ISTP Conference at which the talks foreshadowing and outlining the extended remarks here printed were originally presented and hence as a token of gratitude I was vouchsafed the honor of setting the stage It did not dawn on me until I began piecemeal to receive and accumulate over a period of months the remarkably diverse and heterogeneous essays precipitated by the conference how mind boggling it would be to pen a preface pertinent to such an aggregate of prima acie unrelated articles Typically prefaces to collections of essays from different hands are attempts by the prefator or a pride of prefators to provide an overview a concise map of the complex terrain which readers are invited to enter or to direct the attention of potential readers to what the editors take to be the essential or central themes of each of the variegated articles a practice which not infrequently and often not unjustifiably irritates and even enrages individual authors who object to the complexity profundity and nuanced character of their thought being reduced to clicMs and editorial equivalents of sound bites Visual Metaphor Gerard J. Steen, 2018-12-15 Metaphor has recently been reconceptualised as a fundamental part of the human conceptual system It can hence be expressed in language but also in other modalities and media of communication including gesture and body language sound and music and film and visuals In spite of this theoretical landslide however the wide range of nonverbal metaphor and its processing has neither been empirically investigated on the same scale nor with the same rigour as metaphor in language The overarching goal of this book is to report on the findings of a research program aimed at exploiting the vast cognitive linguistic and psycholinguistic expertise on metaphor in language for a new behaviourally founded approach to the structure and processes of metaphor in one of these nonverbal manifestations namely static visuals The book presents concepts and methods for the identification and analysis of metaphor in document structure as well as new approaches to the study of visual metaphor processing Its results are intended to further the development of an encompassing and robust cognitive scientific theory of metaphor by including visual metaphor while also enriching our understanding of the communicative possibilities and effects of visual metaphor in multimodal discourse The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1992
