Why Write:

Why Write? Mark Edmundson, 2016-08-30 From one of America's great professors author of Why Teach and Why Read an inspiring exploration of the importance of writing well for creators educators students and anyone who writes Why write when it sometimes feels that so few people really read read as if their lives might be changed by what they're reading Why write when the world wants to be informed not enlightened to be entertained not inspired Writing is backbreaking mindbending lonely work So why Because writing as celebrated professor Mark Edmundson explains is one of the greatest human goods Real writing can do what critic R P Blackmur said it could add to the stock of available reality Writing teaches us to think it can bring our minds to birth And once we're at home with words there are few more pleasurable human activities than writing Because this is something he believes everyone ought to know Edmundson offers us Why Write essential reading both practical and inspiring for anyone who yearns to be a writer anyone who simply needs to know how to get an idea across and anyone in between in short everyone

Why Write Poetry? Jeannine Johnson, 2007 Poets have long been defending poetry in prose and essays by Sidney Shelley and others are a familiar and important part of the Anglo American literary tradition This book identifies and examines a related genre the verse defense of poetry which shares the same impulse that has led to the composition of prose essays namely the desire to protect poetry from its detractors and to promote its value as a vital human endeavor In the last century or so this impulse to engage questions of poetry's value in poems has become increasingly widespread and it has dominated the careers of at least five poets H D Wallace Stevens W H Auden Adrienne Rich and Geoffrey Hill Though these poets espouse very different aesthetic principles they like many of their contemporaries have repeatedly turned to apology in their verse At first glance this seems an odd gesture given that the readers and writers of poetry are those who least need convincing of poetry's worthiness But questioning poetry in verse is a form of lyric introspection that is productive and well suited for a modern poet characterized as one of indifference defense helps these authors make a claim for poetry's cultural relevance as well as for its private profit Jeannine Johnson is a Preceptor in Expository Writing at Harvard University

Why Write in Math Class? Linda Schulman Dacey, Rebeka Eston Salemi, Katherine Hopping O'Connell, 2018 To help students communicate their mathematical thinking many teachers have created classrooms where math talk has become a successful and joyful instructional practice Building on that success the ideas in Why Write in Math Class help students construct explore represent refine connect and reflect on mathematical ideas Writing also provides teachers with a window into each student's thinking and informs instructional decisions Focusing on five types of writing in math exploratory explanatory argumentative creative and reflective Why Write in Math Class offers a variety of ways to integrate writing into the math class The ideas in this book will help you make connections to what you already know about the teaching of writing within literacy instruction and build on what you've learned about the development of classroom communities that support math talk The authors offer practical advice about how to support writing in math as well as many specific examples of writing prompts and tasks that require high cognitive demand Extensive stories and samples of student work from K 5 classrooms give a vision of how writing in math class can successfully unfold
